RENEW EFFORT IN SANTA ANA RELIEF DRIVE

With the mailing out this morning of 2000 letters to individuals in different sections of the city, efforts were renewed by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to raise Santa Ana's quota of $7000 for the Santa Barbara Relief fund, according to A. L. Olier, executive secretary of the chamber and campaign manager.

Already two remittances, one for $2817.15 and the other for $359, have been forwarded to the Santa Barbara Relief Fund committee, Secretary Olier announced.

Acknowledgement of the first remittance is contained in the following communication, received at the chamber:

Checks Are Acknowledged
"Santa Ana, Calif.

"We acknowledge with great appreciation your kind letter of September 19, with which you enclosed checks amounting to $2817.15, made payable to the Santa Barbara Relief Fund.

"Again thanking you, and through you the good people of Santa Ana, for this splendid assistance, we are,

"Yours very truly,
"SANTA BARBARA RELIEF FUND COMMITTEE
"By E. F. MacDonald, Secretary"

With contributions received up to noon today, total collections passed the half-way mark, $3500, of the quota set for Santa Ana. Coupled with this announcement, Secretary Olier added that the campaign committee is determined to raise the full amount, and that the individual drive will continue throughout the entire winter, if necessary, to reach the goal. To that end, he added, plans are being made for a city-wide individual canvass.

Following is a copy of the letter sent out this morning by the campaign committee:

Appeal Letters Issued

"Santa Ana has assumed the responsibility of raising her quota of $7000 to the Santa Barbara Relief fund. A part of the city has been canvassed by volunteer workers but a number of Santa Anans have not yet made their subscriptions, so we are sending this letter as an appeal to our citizens to respond to this worthy cause.

$15,000,000 out of an assessed valuation of $30,000,000 is the extent of the damage done to Santa Barbara by the recent earthquake. Business buildings, hotels, homes, hospitals, orphanages, schools, churches, charitable institutions, library, court house, jail, streets, highways, water and sewer systems were destroyed or seriously wrecked.

"Of this huge sum Santa Barbara business men and citizens, by heroic effort through years of economy, will carry $13,000,000.

"A total of $100,000 must be secured from sources outside of Santa Barbara in order that the citizens of that city may have a "fighting chance" to come back. Without this aid it becomes a crushing load.

"The money will be handled in Santa Barbara by a local committee of some of their most prominent business and financial leaders. It will be spent in reconstruction and repairs of hospitals, orphanages, charitable organizations, emergency health and sanitation work, and for temporary schools."

40-MILE NOSE

WASHINGTON.—Vultures have the highest developed sense of smell of most all birds. They will scent carrion for 40 miles, it is said. In the country, where a vulture has not been seen for months maybe, a dead carcass of a hog or a calf sometimes will bring a hundred to the spot.

runs, one hit, no errors. Culer took a toe hold and smacked one of Walter's curves cleanly over second base for the second hit off the Senator's pitcher.

FIFTH INNING

WASHINGTON.—J. Harris up. J. Harris beat out a hit to Wright. Wright made a fine stop, but his throw pulled Grantham off the bag. Bluege up. Ball one, outside. Bluege singled over Wright's head. J. He got two strike on Rice, but weakened in the final pitch and the little outfielder drove in two runs.

PITTSBURGH.—Traynor up. Ball one, high. Traynor hit a home run into the right field stands. It was a hard hit ball and a good homer in any park. Wright up. Foul, strike one. Strike two, called. WASHINGTON.—Goslin up. Foul, strike one. Ball one, outside. Ball two, outside. Ball three, outside. Strike two, called. Goslin fouled to Smith, in back of the plate. Judge up. Ball one, low. Foul, strike two. Judge fled to Carey in front of the center field wall. J. Harris up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Ball two, high. J. Harris fled to Carey in short center. Judge unassisted. Cuyler up. Ball one, high. Strike one, swung. Strike two, swung. Cuyler fled to J. Harris. No runs, no hits, no errors. Foul, strike one. Strike two, called. Bigbee is running for Smith. McInnis fanned. Moore up. Ball one, high. Bigbee stole second. Ruel making a very high throw. No runs one hit, no errors. AWARD CONTRACTS FOR PLANE MAIL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Five contracts were awarded by the post office department today for operating air mail lines to connect the government-operated trans-continental system.

Walter T. Varney, San Francisco, was awarded the Elko-Boise-Pasco line.

Western Air Express, Inc., Los Angeles, was given the Salt Lake-Las Vegas-Los Angeles line.

No awards were made on the Chicago to Birmingham, Ala., and the Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis lines. The bid of Vern C. Gorst to operate the Seattle-Los Angeles line is still under consideration.

U. S. Puts Libel On Polar Vessel

SEATTLE, Wn., Oct. 7.—Returned a heroine from three years' explorations in the polar ice, the famous Amundsen ship Maud was taken in hand by the U. S. government today.

A libel for $5,751.39 for supplies, which are said to be unpaid for, was filed in federal court and U. S. Marshal Benn sent a deputy to serve an attachment on the ship and stationed a guard on board to see that nothing was removed.

The libel was filed by Arnous and company and represented as well the claims of five other Seattle concerns. Capt. Oscar Wisting, of the Maud, said that the libel had been expected.

APPROVE NEW RAILWAY
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—The interstate commerce commission today approved the application of the Central Pacific railway to construct a 24-mile line in Siskiyou county, Calif., between Weed and Grass Lake, known as the Black Butte cutoff.

CRASH DEATH DAMAGE SUIT IS CONTINUED

Rex Harris, Anaheim music store manager, was today pressing his $45,500 damage action against the Griffith company, paving contractors, the case being on trial before a jury in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court.

The damage claim is an outgrowth of an automobile accident, which resulted in the death of Mrs. Alice Harris, wife of the business man. Mrs. Harris, while riding with her parents on Garden Grove boulevard a few months ago, was fatally injured in an accident at the West Seventeenth street intersection.

At the time, the Griffith company was engaged in paving Seventeenth street, the "Arrow" highway between Santa Ana and Long Beach. Harris claims that an obstruction was placed across the intersection with Garden Grove boulevard and this was responsible for the automobile accident and his wife's death.

The trial was started yesterday and continued today. The Griffith company contends, in defense, that the automobile was negligently operated.

2 AIRMEN KILLED AS PLANE FALLS

LONG BEACH, Oct. 7.—Watson Keerlac, a professional aviator, and Harold Schuck, former army flyer, were instantly killed here yesterday when their airplane crashed from an altitude of 1800 feet. According to witnesses of the accident, the airplane was looping the loop when the crash occurred. Both men were residents of Long Beach.

DOUSTED FLEET CHIEF SPURNS NEW POSITION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Adm. L. C. Palmer, who was deposed by the U. S. shipping board yesterday as president of the emergency fleet corporation, announced that he would not accept the position of vice president in charge of European affairs, offered him by the board.

Palmer said that he had informed President Coolidge that he had intended to resign last week, when deprived by the board of most of his authority, but remained temporarily to co-operate with H. G. Dalton, appointed by the president to investigate the shipping board's conduct of its powers.

Palmer's statement follows: "I accepted the presidency of the emergency fleet corporation in January, 1924, only because of the definite understanding that I should have a free hand in the operation of the fleet.

"A few days ago, when four of the seven members of the shipping board rescinded the authority necessary to handle the fleet, I informed the president that I could not continue to serve if those conditions were to be permanent.

However, in view of the fact that Commissioners O'Connor and Benson and I had agreed to fully co-operate with Mr. Dalton, who was designated to make inquiry and submit his views for the chief executive's consideration, I did not think it proper to take any action until such time as the president had been fully informed and was ready to announce his wishes in the matter.

"Under the circumstances, it would be impossible for me to accept the board's offer in regard to the European position."

Capt. Elmer E. Crowley, of Massachusetts, was elected to take Palmer's place by the unanimous vote of five commissioners present at the meeting.

Palmer was made director of European affairs in the shipping board. Four members voted for this transfer, it was announced, Chairman T. V. O'Connor refraining from voting. Commissioners Lissner and Hill were absent.

ALEUTIAN ISLAND SURVEY FINISHED

UNALASKA, Alaska, Oct. 7.—After four months' reconnaissance work in the Aleutian Islands, during which much valuable information was secured, Lieutenant Jones and his party of coast geodetic survey members is enroute for Seattle and San Francisco on the cutter Bear.

They arrived here on the Schooner Everett Hayes, unable to complete the survey of the islands. The work will be completed later. The only previous survey was made by Dahl, in 1874.

Among the findings, when all data is assembled, will be the exact longitude of Unalaska, never before determined. Previous observations, made before the time of the radio, are not considered entirely accurate.

Magnetic tests were taken by the geodetic men, but foggy and cloudy weather made astronomical observations difficult.

On Adak island, sketches were made of the splendid land-locked harbor, which never before had been charted, and of which little was known previously.

The survey at Atka island was elaborated somewhat, and the position of a submerged rock near the entrance to the harbor was charted. The rock was considered as a danger to navigation, but now can be guarded against.

Bad weather was encountered on Umnak island, so the stay there was cut short. The shore line was mapped and latitude and longitude determined.

'Holdup' Proves To Be Heifer In Middle of Road

MARYSVILLE, Calif., Oct. 7.—Returning from Colusa with five members of his stage company as passengers, F. McDonough, road show manager, saw a shadow in the highway.

He thought it was a holdup man, speeded up, and headed straight for it.

When McDonough and the others untangled themselves from the wrecked automobile, they saw a dead heifer lying in the middle of the road. None of the occupants of the car was injured.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction, often at a very rapid rate, and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overindulgence, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling giving you the renewed energy and vigor which comes as a result of the loss of your superfluous fat.

If you are overcast do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

Little Lad Is Host To Young Friends On Birthday

The ninth birthday of young Billy Peterson was celebrated in a delightful manner yesterday afternoon when Billy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto P. Peterson planned a party for their little son at their home, 1001 West Sixth street.

All the games which youngsters most enjoy, were planned and directed by Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. C. Patterson who aided in making things merry for the children. The nicest feature of all came at the refreshment hour when ice cream and candies were accompanied by a huge birthday cake sparkling with candles.

Master Billy's guests included Joy Beaser, Thelma Wright, Billy Nowatney, Raymond Nowatney, Richard Wright, Nettie Wright, Hollis Wilcox, Lorraine Sander, Arthur Elliott, Robert Elliott, Dora Perkins, Elvin Williamson and Oliver Dresser.

S. A. CLUBWOMEN CELEBRATE MEMBER'S GOLDEN WEDDING

A picturesque English wedding which occurred just fifty years ago in the parish church of Buckland, Gloucestershire, England, was celebrated as an anniversary with a great deal of ceremony yesterday, when, at the year's first meeting of the Santa Ana Woman's club with Mrs. Theo. A. Winbiger and the "club mother," Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, at their home, 207 East Ninth street, the club members honored a well-loved sister, Mrs. Charles H. Stanley and much to her surprise, decked her in the habiliments of a bride and staged a wedding with reception following.

It was a delightful occasion in every particular and launched the year of club work and club associations most happily. When Mrs. Stanley arrived at the Winbiger home, she was taken in charge by the hostess committee, members of the executive board, who had ready for her to don, the frock of sheer pina cloth which Mrs. G. B. Lamme graciously loaned and which was sent her from the Philippines many years ago by her son.

The long drawing room was literally ablaze with autumn zinnias, dahlias and marigolds, with the golden ones predominating. In a doorway was suspended a huge white wedding veil and as the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding march were played by Mrs. James Clark, two ribbon bearers, Mrs. I. D. Annis and Mrs. C. P. Kryhl, dressed in white and adorned with yellow bows and flowers, carried yellow garlands to form an aisle from doorway to the wedding bed.

Mrs. Henry Diers and Mrs. Frank Eyer were the flower girls and scattered white and gold confetti down the aisle thus formed. Bearing twin wedding rings, Mrs. Lamme then entered and as the bride of fifty years ago wearing the conventional veil falling from a golden crown, was asked to take her place before the minister, she was joined by an amazing bridegroom, none other than the club president, Mrs. Walter Moore, respondent in an outfit of fine figure of a bridegroom. No less imposing was Mrs. Birkett Utley as "Lord Chief Justice of Orange County" in flowing robes of her office, correct even to the detail of clubbed gray wig.

The ceremony which the chief justice read was as amazing as was the wedding party itself and was broken at intervals by the singing of favorite old songs by Mrs. Winbiger to the piano accompaniment of Miss Carrie Seaton. "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" were included in the lovely group.

Other bridal songs were given by Mrs. Arthur A. May accompanied by Miss Leonora Tompkins. They were charmingly sung and included "I Love You Truly," "Oh Promise Me" and "At Dawning."

Reminiscences

The ceremony was followed by an interesting session presided over by Mrs. C. T. Wells who called upon each member in turn to express her congratulations to Mrs. Stanley upon having reached her fiftieth year of wedded life and to relate interesting details of her own wedding day. One of the most interesting features was the story of Mrs. Stanley's wedding which she told in her beautifully modulated English voice.

It was a church wedding at which the rector of the parish and his son, the curate, both officiated. All the villagers were present and the church was completely filled with interested friends. The white-robed bride had four pretty bridesmaids and after the formal ceremony, there was the spectacular return home for a wedding breakfast in a stately coach drawn by four horses guided by a postilion.

In memory of that pretty event, Mother Mills, on behalf of the club members, presented Mrs. Stanley with a gold piece as a golden wedding gift, quoting an appropriate bit of verse.

Members of Family

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley whose home is at 1135 West First street, have five children and nine grandchildren. Their sons and daughters were all born in England prior to the coming of the family to California and soon to Santa Ana (in 1889) where they have made their home ever since.

The family includes Mrs. Smallwood whose husband is cashier of the First National bank at Pleasanton; Henry C. Stanley, electrical engineer with the General Electric company in San Francisco; Fred W. Stanley of the Stanley Construction company, Fresno; Ernest J. Stanley, general superintendent for El Tigre Mining company, El Tigre, Mexico, and Miss Edith P. Stanley of the home. The interesting family of grand-children includes Miss Genevieve Smallwood and Stanley C. Smallwood, students at University of California; Katharine E. Smallwood, Henry V. Stanley, Dorothy Stanley, Florence Stanley, Martha Stanley, William G. Stanley and Mary Elizabeth Stanley.

Planning all details of yesterday's party were Mesdames Walter Moore, W. S. Chandler, William Whitehead, Margaret, Leonard, Henry Diers, C. T. Wells, E. A. Marks, I. D. Annis, Dr. Evelene Peo, Marian Brett, F. H. Finney and R. Ruth Tiffany. Mrs. Lovisa Leslie, another member of the executive board, is still in Ohio where a recent serious accident to her aged mother will require her presence for many more weeks.

Mrs. Stanley, the honoree, is the one remaining member of the board.

A celebrated favorite of the Mexican stage for more than thirty years, Esperanza Iris is now retiring with a fortune of nearly a million dollars accumulated from her earnings and fortunate investments.

Travel Tales Related During Interesting Afternoon Party

One of the most enjoyable of the past week's social affairs was the friendly afternoon party sponsored by Mrs. H. Clement Dawes and Mrs. A. W. Ames at the hospitable Dawes home on Spurgeon street.

Nearly half a hundred guests gathered for the event and enjoyed the artistic arrangement of parti-colored dahlias and zinnias adorning the home. Cards were designed as entertainment and instead, the afternoon hours were devoted to friendly chat broken at intervals by music and song. Summer trips of different guests gave opportunity for many interesting travel tales. Mrs. Ames and Mrs. J. R. Medlock each of whom had enjoyed a summer in Alaska, had fascinating details of their trips to relate. Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis also told of a delightful summer in the east and of the many interesting folk she met.

Mrs. Sammis offered further enjoyment by singing a group of songs in her usual delightful manner. At the tea hour Mrs. Dawes and Mrs. Ames were assisted in serving delectable refreshments in buffet style by a little group of friends including Mrs. John C. Sexton, Miss Margaret Lyon and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns.

Masculine Gifts Presented Girl

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Birthdays gifts to an English society girl are a gun, a gun case and a gold cigarette case on the occasion of her coming of age vividly reflect the spirit of the times.

It is no longer fashionable in England for a girl to be feminine. Instead, upon coming of age, she enters a man's estate. The recipient of these masculine gifts was Miss Elizabeth Murray Baillie, only child of the late Col. F. D. Murray Baillie, of Caley, near Gatehouse, End.

New French Tango Liked In England

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Dancing schools in London's fashionable West End are working over-time teaching the elite of English society the intricacies of the new French tango. Present indications are that the new step will closely rival the fox-trot and one-step in popularity during the fall social season.

Claim Cigaret Machines Cause Minors to Smoke

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Cigaret smoking by boys and girls under 15 years old has been widely fostered, it is said, by the installation here of numerous automatic cigarette selling machines. Hence, steps are shortly to be taken to test the legality of the installation of the machines. Under the present laws, licensed dealers are prohibited from selling cigarettes to persons under 15 years of age. But anybody with a six-pence or a shilling can operate one of the cigarette distributing machines. Since there is an 8 o'clock closing law for shops the machines have been considered a great convenience for smokers who failed to lay in an evening's supply before the shops closed. More than 500 of the machines have been installed in London during the last year.

SHIP MAUD AT SEATTLE AFTER 3 YEARS IN ICE

SEATTLE, Wn., Oct. 7.—Raold Amundsen's exploration schooner Maud was docked in Seattle yesterday after an absence of more than three years.

During most of that time, the Maud remained locked in the ice packs of the Arctic ocean, trying to drift with it across the pole and out on the other side of the globe.

The ship, instead, drifted 2500 miles west of Nome, but very little in the direction of the pole.

Defeated, she was ordered to turn back, but many months passed before the hold of the ice pack could be broken and the famous ship could make her way back to Seattle, from which port she started on June 3, 1922.

One Buried in Ice.

Seven men manned the ship when it left Seattle. Six guided it into its dock. The great ice cap of the world is the cemetery for one of the explorers. S. Syverson, assistant engineer, died and lies in a burial vault cut out of the solid northern ice.

Life on the long trip was generally pleasant, the hardy sons of the Vikings said. There were few dangers or hardships. Each was happy, however, to be back in civilization. Each longed to see the faces of loved ones in Norway or America and each already has planned his journey back home.

"Would you go back north again?" one was asked.

"Oh, yes, perhaps. It isn't bad, you know," he said in broken English with a smile.

And with the true spirit of the adventurer, these Norsemen scoffed at the dangers of the clutching, crushing ice packs, laughed at the long and lonely night and insisted that their journey had been merely a pleasure trip.

Well Supplied With Food.

"We had lots of food," said T. M. Olonkin, engineer and radio operator. "We had enough to last five years more. And it was good, too. Fresh meat we had almost every day. Polar bear, walrus and seal. I am anxious for some hot weather, though. It was cold up there. Sometimes it was as much as 54 below."

Capt. Oscar Wisting, the ship's master, was the only member of the crew who refused to talk. "My lips are sealed," he said. "I am under contract with Amundsen not to talk. Have we told our story? Maybe." And that is all he would say.

There is some question as to the final disposition of the Maud, but it is thought here that, after the vessel lays in Seattle a while, she finally will go to San Francisco for disposition.

Our Neighbors

EL CENTRO—Imperial valley's annual cotton harvest is again under way with every indication of it bringing to growers a gross income of at least $12,000,000. The condition of the crop this year is considered excellent, as there has been plenty of water and good weather, and it is predicted that the yield will be as good if not better than last season, when many farmers obtained around one-half bale to the acre. A survey of the cotton planting for this year shows an acreage of approximately 50,000 acres in Imperial county proper and 30,000 acres in the Imperial valley south of the international boundary. It is expected that 30,000 to 100,000 bales will be ginned from this extensive acreage.

SAN DIEGO—Work is progressing rapidly on the new offices of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company at Ninth and C streets, according to local officials. Barring unforeseen delay, the office quarters will be ready for occupancy by January 1, 1926. However, additional time will be required for the completion of other quarters in the building and the installation of equipment to allow for a complete occupancy of the new building. The telephone company recently completed the erection of enlarged garage and store-room quarters at Thirtieth and N streets, which quarters now are being occupied.

CLAREMONT—All its previous records for returns to growers from shipments of both the major citrus fruits were broken by the College Heights Orange and Lemon association this last year, it was learned when the members met at the packing house here to hear the annual report of their manager, H. W. Pierce. Oranges brought $360,000 in excess of the best former year, and lemons ran up a surplus of $275,000 over the previous record. Oranges, grapefruit and miscellaneous brought in $1,100,000, during the year, while lemons netted $400,000.

CALEXICO—Announcement has been made by the Southern Pacific company that construction work would begin soon on a new passenger depot here to cost approximately $60,000. The new station will be situated east of the company's tracks between Second street and Paulin avenue. Civic organizations for several years have been endeavoring to induce the company to replace the old building here with a new one and recently they were given to understand that the company would have an announcement soon regarding the project.

POMONA—Close to a million dollars in canned fruits and vegetables is the record production of the Pomona Valley this year. Local canneries packed over 350,000 cases of canned goods during the spring and summer months. They employed 1200 persons, mostly women and girls during the season. They paid out over $250,000 locally for labor. One cannery packed 150,000 cases of peaches alone valued at $400,000. The total estimate of $1,000,000 covers apricots, peaches, vegetables. Peaches were the largest crop, covering probably four-fifths of the value of the season's pack.

Deny Stories Of High Hotel Costs In Santa Barbara

An automobile party, filling two cars, spent last Thursday and Friday in Santa Barbara, those enjoying the trip including Mrs. Lawrence Wakeham, Miss Inez Cloyes, Mrs. Clarence Skiles, Mrs. F. S. Smith and daughter, Miss Minna Smith, Mrs. C. E. Dessery, Miss Pauline Parsons and Miss Lillian Craig.

The visitors were given a little sample of an earthquake when they awakened at 2 a. m. by a tremor, which rocked their beds. They were told that these slight quakes are experienced often.

The women reported that hotel accommodation prices are reasonable despite the reports current that they are exorbitant, and business persons are eager to have visitors in the city. Many business houses and residences already have been repaired and work is progressing on the mission.

QUAKE COLLEGE IS NEW ORGANIZATION

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The latest thing in intellectual Boston is a college devoted almost exclusively to the study of earthquakes.

This new institution boasts no campus, no football team, no fraternities. Its faculty is composed of seismologists who hope, by research and instruction to insure the United States against serious disaster from earth tremors.

The college, called "The Engineering Economics Foundation," gathers and disseminates information concerning national emergencies of all types, and methods of reducing loss of life and property in such emergencies. It focuses its work upon earthquakes because they include practically all types of hazard.

Headquarters of this college is in an old house on Beacon Hill, into which come reports from every section of the world that relate to disturbances within the earth. It is from these reports, which scientists study constantly, that deductions are drawn, new methods of prevention developed and steps taken to wage the fight against destruction.

If proper precautions are taken in advance the maximum destruction from any earth disturbance can be reduced by 75 per cent, according to scientists associated with the new project.

Poor Breakfasts Cause Accidents

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 7.—If the wife gives hubby a few kisses and a good breakfast before he starts out in the morning in his automobile he will be less likely to meet with an accident.

This was the deduction made by the Cleveland Safety council at the National Safety congress, which met here.

"Soggy toast and bad coffee cause more accidents than careless driving, or at least they are prime factors which result in careless driving," Joseph Alexander, chairman of the local council, declared.

"Safety investigators seeking to find basic reasons for accidents in the mornings have traced the blame to the home."

"A man who starts off in the mornings whether to an office or factory with the taste of burned toast and weak coffee in his mouth and without any wifely caress to encourage him in his day's work is likely to leave the house grumpy and preoccupied."

"Result—more accidents."

the dam at Pine canyon and the conduit to Pasadena, according to an official statement of the city's water project which has just been issued by the board of city directors and sent to municipalities in the San Gabriel valley and along the coastal plane and to all organizations, such as water companies which are interested in the San Gabriel. It is expected that the statement will allay any adverse sentiment to Pasadena's project which might exist.

LONG BEACH—Calling the $21,000 deal for purchase of water land in the Long Beach shoeing strip only a small item in the relations of the two cities, Councilman Condit yesterday declared that "Los Angeles definitely and positively intends to gobble up Long Beach. It purports to wipe Long Beach out of existence." The declaration by Mr. Condit that the camouflage has been removed from the plans of Los Angeles with respect to Long Beach was made in the course of a heated controversy at a special meeting of the city council called for the purpose of authorizing the city manager to close the water land purchase which has been in escrow for months. No action was taken.

DEMAND REMOVAL OF PUBLIC PRINTER

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 7.—Removal from office of the public printer for the government at Washington, George H. Carter, was demanded here in three resolutions introduced at the American Federation of Labor convention.

The resolutions also direct the executive council of the federation to petition President Coolidge to order an investigation of Carter's conduct in office.

A number of actions are charged against Carter, including "establishment of a spy system whereby reports of tale-bearers and stool pigeons has more to do with rating and position than competency." A protest against militarism was made in a resolution sponsored by representatives of the cloth hat, cap and millinery workers' international union. The federation was asked to "condemn fostering of the spirit of militarism by the citizens' military training camps or through any other means."

The federation support also was asked for a drive to unionize all "white collar" workers. The book-keepers, stenographers and accountants union advocated this.

Rocks Are Rocks But Here Is Man Who Values Them

BERKELEY, Oct. 7.—A rock is just a rock, according to most people, and in that opinion concurred John N. Kanahaka, gardener. But Charles B. Willits sees rocks as something more than mere stones—to him they are atmosphere for a hillside setting, atmosphere which must be guarded, even to getting police aid.

Kanahaka was employed to do gardening work on a lot adjoining Willits' property. He needed some rocks to bank up the soil and journeyed across the property line to help himself.

Willits took one look at his property soon after, then summoned the police.

Kanahaka was located, given a lecture on "atmosphere" and ordered to take all the rocks back.

Patrick Renamed To Army Air Post

This Havoline Oil-power test is an actual test of your car! The Motor Check shows exactly the condition of your timing, ignition, brakes, speedometer, clutch and wheel alignment. It will save you many a heavy repair bill and cut dollars from your gas and oil expense.

Refill your crank case with Havoline; the rest goes with it, free. Drive around now, buy your oil—and be sure to get a Free Test Certificate. Bring it to the Motor Check with you, and see in your own car what Havoline has shown to others—

Oil which gives most power is the right oil for your car.

You Pay Only for the Oil—

THE Wasson Motor Check is the only machine ever invented which takes any automobile "as is" and tests every running part so as to locate definitely any trouble that exists. It is so scientifically accurate that it shows—in actual horse-power—how power is affected by oil.

Use your Free Test Certificate! Remember you are entitled to all of the following:

First—Your crank case drained and refilled with your Havoline.

Then—The Free Test on the Wasson Motor Check—

- 1 Test of car for horse-power.
- 2 Test for slippage of gases past pistons.
- 3 Test for timing accuracy.
- 4 Test of speedometer accuracy.
- 5 Test of wheel alignment.
- 6 Test of brake adjustment.
- 7 Test of car for slipping clutch.
- 8 Tests No. 1 and 2 repeated after you have driven car the distance indicated by Wasson Motor Check engineer. (This shows how Havoline has reduced your slippage and held your power.)
- 9 Your own personal Oil Prescription form for further reference.

Each test in itself has unusual value. The Oil Prescription is by far the most important.

Get it! Follow its recommendations! Then you'll be sure of every benefit that comes from buying oil as power.

Tests do not include repairs or adjustments, but after about fifteen minutes, the Motor Check man tells you ways of saving money that you'd never dream were possible without this chance to see it yourself.

Why oil that gives most power is the right oil for your car—

HORSE-POWER in a car usually falls off after a certain amount of use—in some cars 20 to 50%. Power, oil and gas are wasted. The car wears out faster than it should. Nine times out of ten the trouble is traceable to the oil seal between the cylinders and the pistons. Use weakens oil. Dirt gets in through intake manifold and breather. Metal "dust" gathers. Carbon collects. Unburned gas slips past your rings into the crank case and, when excessive, tends to turn your oil into an anti-lubricant, a power-extinguisher.

A lubricant weakened in this manner cannot possibly hold up your power.

In more than 20,000 tests on real cars, the Motor Check has shown it. These same tests proved that Havoline builds up and holds up power—not only when fresh but also after being used for several hundred miles.

The Free Test shows you how Havoline improves your own car! See it! You must believe the testimony of your senses! You'll listen when your own car tells you—"Oil is more than oil—it is power!"

PAST RECORDS PROVE THAT GODS OF RAIN ARE FICKLE AND FORECAST IMPOSSIBLE

Is this going to be a dry year? L. A. Galloway, of Hill and Son's hardware store, says that no one possibly can tell. Mr. Galloway's opinion carries some weight as it is through him that there are any records at all of rainfalls in Santa Ana during the last 17 years.

It was in 1908 that Mr. Galloway had a rain gauge installed on the top of the Hill building and since then there never has been a rain but what it was entered in the little black book which holds all of the records.

The total amount of rainfall for every year up to 1925 is as follows:

Season	Inches
1908-09	15.44
1909-10	13.62
1910-11	12.31
1911-12	7.85

Early Rain in 1908
In the season of 1908 and 1909 the first rainfall, as all old timers will remember, was early in September, and by October 10 it had rained .80 inches. The records for the amount of rainfall by October 10 are as follows:

Season	Inches
1909-10	.11
1910-11	.05
1911-12	.54
1912-13	.76
1913-14	.00
1914-15	.79
1915-16	.00
1916-17	2.03
1917-18	.00
1918-19	.18
1919-20	1.27
1920-21	.08
1921-22	.77
1922-23	.00
1923-24	.33
1924-25	.06

In 1915-16 there was no rain before October 10; in fact, up until January 1 there only was 3.79 inches. In several years there was more rainfall than 3.79 inches as on January 1, 1910, when there was 8.25 inches. In 1914 there was 8 inches, in 1917 there was 5.92 inches, in 1919 there was 3.92 inches, in 1920 there was 4.40 inches, in 1922 there was 8.79 inches, and in 1924 there was 4.62 inches. And yet in 1915-16 there was 15.13 inches.

Flood in County
In January alone that year there was 10.13 inches of rain. It rained 19 of the 31 days in January, thus causing one of the worst floods ever seen in Orange county. According to the statistics for 1915-16 there is no knowledge to be gained from the early rains.

As 1924-25 was the driest years to be experienced here for a long period of time, it is no wonder persons gaze with trepidation on the weather signs and spend much time in wondering what the year will bring forth in the way of rain. According to Mr. Galloway there is absolutely no way of telling. All that can be done, he says, is to hope for the best.

ROTARY HEARS RUDD TALK ON SALESMANSHIP

If, through good salesmanship, a store can increase its sales 10 per cent, it can increase its profit 50 per cent.

At least, said Will D. Rudd, district sales manager of the National Cash Register company, something of the kind can be brought about by good salesmanship. Rudd yesterday addressed the Santa Ana Rotary club at its meeting at St. Ann's Inn at a "Getting New Business" program. Many of the programs of the Rotary club this year are planned as business programs to carry out the original plan of Rotary as a business and professional men's organization.

"If a store does a $40,000 business," said Rudd, "and has an overhead that reduces his profits to $2000, and if by good salesmanship by himself and his employees, without raising his overhead, he increases his business to $44,000, he has added $1000 to his profit account. I am assuming that he makes 25 per cent gross profit on his sales."

Rudd used charts effectively in bringing out his points.

Features of yesterday's meeting were a number of stories by Stanley Hall, who is appearing at Yost's theater, and who was present as the guest of E. D. Yost, and two solos by Mrs. Merle Pindell, Mrs. Pindell was accompanied by Mrs. Nat Neff.

A letter, based upon the election of the Rev. J. A. Stevenson, a charter member of the Santa Ana club, now at San Jose, as a member of the San Jose club, was signed by all Rotarians present yesterday and was mailed today as a memento.

B. V. Curry, manager of Townner's Implement works, became a member of the Santa Ana club yesterday.

RAY W. PERRY IS CALLED BY DEATH

Arrangements were today being completed for the funeral in Los Angeles tomorrow of Ray W. Perry, brother of Mrs. W. H. Thomas, 425 West First street, whose death came very suddenly Monday evening, October 5.

Mr. Perry was well-known in this city, where he made his home for many years with Judge and Mrs. Thomas. About four years ago, he went to Los Angeles, where he has been connected with the board of public utilities. He has never been of robust health, but had shown improvement in the last few years. Death came unexpectedly while he was at the dinner table Monday evening. Heart disease was named as the cause.

Adding to the sad features of the passing was the fact that a bride of just six weeks, was widowed. For on Wednesday, September 2, he was wedded to Miss Adelaide Pope, of Los Angeles. They made their home at 2021 South Vineyard street, that city.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from the Ivy H. Oberholtzer chapel, 1719 South Flower street, Los Angeles.

PREPARE FOR JIM JINX' NIGHT AT Y.

Entertainment of a high grade is promised in the next stunt at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, according to Physical Director R. R. Russick, who this morning announced the "Jim Jinx" for Friday night, October 23.

"We are going to put on this entertainment for the good of the cause," said Russick, "and it is going to be a good show. We have several squads in training for some fine athletic and gymnastic work, including fancy drills, posing and other specialties, and we also are to present some of our talent in musical acts and other novel features. It is to be a regular gymnasium vaudeville."

"Groups of men and older boys have been at work on their numbers for several weeks, and they are showing real ability. We are to have the help of the women in a couple of numbers, also. This will not in any sense compete with our big gymnasium circus, to be given in the spring, but as a snappy piece of entertainment, it will set a high mark."

SUGGESTIONS FOR UTILIZING THE CITY'S WATER RESOURCES

Editor Register: Our people are elated, because of the fine rain we have already had this season; but this elation, in a measure, gives way to regret, when we are reminded that no adequate preparations have been made to conserve the runoff waters of the Santa Ana river watershed. However, it is to be hoped that ere another rainy season arrives, the three counties that have united to solve this important question, will have made real progress towards ultimate success in CONSERVATION. The Register's recent editorial, under the title, "Shows What Water Means," was timely and doubtless will aid in creating sentiment favorable to this much needed project.

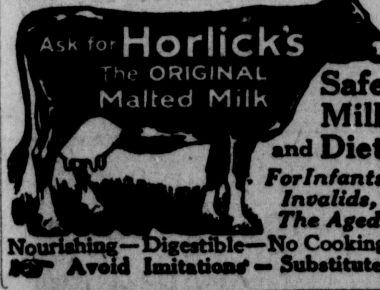

Santa Ana readers are as vitally concerned in conservation of water as are the land owners; therefore, it behooves us to take stock of our city holdings, so as to be posted regarding the best use they can be put to, to benefit the greatest numbers. The city of Santa Ana owns 135.81 acres of land, just south and west of the city limits, and along the Santa Ana river, a small portion being on west side. From its location, it is bound to be a valuable source of domestic water supply. During the present year, our city authorities had a well drilled and equipped on this land, at a cost of $10,990.30, exclusive of pump. The pump that is being used was first installed in a Bristol street well and later was removed to this well; its cost was $2105.00. The well is reported to be 1165 feet deep and pumping 140 miner's inches of water, (1 1/4 heads). The land is leased out for farming at a yearly rental of $1500, and the water from the new well is being used for irrigating this land, therefore depleting the city's supply to just that extent. It would seem that if the city is bound under lease to furnish water for irrigation, it would be cheaper to buy the water off, then rent land for "dry-farming," or, still better, sell the land, reserving water and mineral rights, together with sufficient land for proper operation of reservations. With reasonable advertising, it is possible that sufficient money would be obtained to complete the outfall sewer, and some other needed improvements, thus obviating the necessity of further bond issues.

In passing, will state our city also owns 7.79 acres of good water bearing land, located on West First street, between Daisy and Sullivan streets, fronting 264 feet on the south side of First, running thence south 1290 feet. This is, favorably located for the purpose, would make a nice park, and still the water could be used by the city.

Respectfully submitted,

S. J. JACKMAN.

CRANSTON INDORSES OUTLINE FOR WORK

Purpose of Association to Promote Value of Training in Schools

Unqualified indorsement of the educational training work outlined by the Vocational Guidance Association of Southern California, distributed over a series of 10 monthly vocational guidance conferences for the school year 1925-26, was voiced today by A. J. Cranston, city superintendent of schools.

The first of these conferences was held last Saturday in the Broadway Department store, Los Angeles, and was attended by close to 200 teachers, drawn from different school districts in Southern California. Santa Ana was represented by a delegation of nine teachers, headed by Principal H. G. Nelson, of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school. Accompanying Principal Nelson were Elizabeth Bruner, Mary Henderson, Florence Kline, Hazel Thrasher, I. M. Webber, A. M. Worden, teachers of the Julia C. Lathrop junior high school, and W. P. Reed, of the Frances E. Willard junior high school.

Shown Through Store
Every courtesy was extended by the management of the Broadway store to the visiting teachers, who, with department heads acting as guides, went through the entire plant. As the visitors passed from one department to another, its activities were explained by the guide who at the same time stressed the need of competent help. In this way the teachers were given an opportunity of gaining first hand information of personnel service requirements, it was explained by the instructors who attended the conference.

The Vocational Guidance Association of Southern California is made up of superintendents, principals, supervisors, heads of departments and vocational teachers, organized for the purpose of promoting the practical value of vocational training in the public schools. Superintendent Cranston explained.

Plan Junior Groups
According to Cranston, the plan further contemplates the organization of junior vocational guidance

Now customs officers are investigating, and Mme. de Casares, to add to her troubles, faces a charge of seeking to defraud a London store.

AID OFFICIAL SEES THROUGH 'GLASS' WIDOWS

Walter S. Gregg, of Orange, county aid commissioner, is being annoyed by a rich widow; several of them, in fact.

Gregg, whose job is to dispense financial aid to the needy from public coffers, is a shining target for the almshunters. It is up to him to single out the worthy from among the multitude who would relieve the county of its easy money. Applicants for widows' pensions are among the clients of the aid commissioner. Needy widows are the only kind entitled to such pensions. Gregg told the county supervisors late yesterday that he had refused pensions to several widows who have come to him. He has found, he said, that some of them have extensive property holdings. "Some of these grass widows," said Gregg, "ought to be called glass widows. Anyway, I can see through 'em."

SEEK HISTORY OF P.-T. A. FOR STATE ORGAN USE

Official Publication of Organization to Issue Founders' Day Number

Elaborate plans are already taking shape for a Founders' Day number of "Parent-Teacher," official publication of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers. It was announced today by Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, chairman of publicity, fourth district P.-T. A. The entire issue will be devoted to material touching on the early days and traditions of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, and a special staff of "pioneers" is being selected to aid the editor in compiling the record. A special call is being sent out for interesting pictures and records that might be used to advantage. In this connection, Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, district president, hopes that the officers and members of the Orange county organization will give their co-operation.

The rules for the awarding of the 10 scholarships which the California Congress of Parents and Teachers will support this year have been announced. Mrs. P. J. Kramer, of Oakland, and Mrs. Stephen Gould, of Coalinga, are in charge of the scholarships. The scholarships will be for high schools, teachers' colleges, and universities, and will take the form of loans without interest. The first repayment to be made by the student within the first year of his earning capacity and the balance to be returned within three years. The maximum of each scholarship will be $150 a year, or $15 a month. The application will be through a committee of at least three members of the school faculty in which the student is applying for the scholarship addressed to the scholarship committee of the congress.

One of the important matters to come up at the meeting of the state board of the Congress of Parents and Teachers next Tuesday is the setting of the place in which the 1926 state convention will be held. Sacramento, the home city of the president, Mrs. Hugh Bradford, has extended an invitation, but it is quite possible that one of the southern cities will be chosen. The last convention was held in Fresno, in April, last.

The meeting is to be held in the Newport grammar school, and will be under auspices of the Newport Beach police department. Dr. MacWilliams' subject will be "Crime and its Relationship to the Children of Today." POSTERS WARN ACTORS NOT TO USE VULGARITY

Double Meaning Jokes and Profanity Not Tolerated
In West Coast House

So that actors will clearly understand that unclean lines, profanity and double meaning jokes are not to be tolerated in the Walker theater, posters have been placed in all of the dressing rooms.

This precaution has been made since the Walker theater became a West Coast theater, it was said. The poster, in part, reads as follows:

"To the manager:
"There has been a tendency on the part of certain artists to use in their acts suggestive and objectionable material. This must not be tolerated by the managers."

"All unclean lines, oaths, profanity, double meaning jokes, suggestive songs, improper dances and offensive situations must be promptly eliminated."

"Under no circumstances should religious ridicule or the irreverent mention of or reference to the Deity be countenanced."

"Each individual manager is charged with the responsibility of censoring the acts played in his theater. He should not be affected in his actions by what artists claim they were permitted to do at other theaters. If in doubt, managers should immediately communicate with the Los Angeles office for instructions."

"Managers and artists should co-operate so as to give our patrons only clean and wholesome entertainment."

The poster is signed by M. D. Howe, manager of the vaudeville division of the West Coast theaters.

Before the time that the Walker theater became a West Coast playhouse, a printed sign, which was hung on the bulletin board of the theater, was placed conspicuously, so that every actor could read it. This sign was as follows:
"No vulgarity, no prohibition wise cracks and double meaning jokes are allowed on our stage, as we have children that we would not want to hear this stuff. The bulletin was signed by the management."

'DUMB DORA' EDICT FANS FLAME OF RESENTMENT IN SOULS OF COUNTY EXPERTS

Beautiful but dumb!
That is the indictment hurled against many of America's prettiest women by a man who has had a lot of experience.

Armand T. Nichols, director general of the Atlantic City bathing girl tournament for four years, made the statement. Since he has had so much experience with the "Miss Paducahs," "Miss Scaposes," "Miss Skamokawas" et al in his annual parade of pulchritudinous dames, one gives an ear to what he says.

"Two men, both of them public officials, have had nerve enough to say that Nichols is 'all wet.' One of them is Joseph Backs, county clerk. The other is his affable accomplice, Earl Abbey, clerk of Judge Z. B. West's superior court."

To Messrs. Backs and Abbey and other employees of the county in the clerk's office, the brides and bridegrooms troop before they are brides and bridegrooms.

They have to answer intimate questions, as to the first name of their grandmother and her birthplace, if any, and why they are getting married anyway?

Consequently, Backs and Abbey were immediately pounced upon by ruffians. Nichols.

In brief, Backs and Abbey agreed on the following points:

If a girl wants to bob her hair she should be allowed to bob it. It is her hair.

If a girl wants to rouge her cheeks, let her rouge them. The cheeks belong to her.

If she wishes to shake a foot, who is to prevent her from exercising her own prerogative?

Backs:

"I read an article the other day in a magazine to the effect that the girls rolled their hose some 500 years ago. We all remember the story of Lady Godiva and her steed.

"The men used to carry snuff boxes and wear golf pants when Boswell was writing up Johnson. And as for Noah, every picture of him I have seen shows him in a Ruth St. Denis costume and a crooked stick in his hand. We have come to expect it in pictures like Noah. About the most Nichols can say is that the girls are copying the men."

Abbey:

"When interviewed I had nothing to say, but added:

"The gals and boys who rush in here are not so bad. Of course, now and then we draw a cipher but most of the brides are good at figures. Nichols must be in an awful shape to say that about our girls. It nearly makes me cry when I think of what he said, because Fay Lanphier, born and raised in California won the 'Miss America' title at Nichols' revue."

If the ordinary pretty girl is dumb, what about Fay, who is the prettiest of them all? All Native Daughters should join in hissing this man down.

"Have you heard of miracle hose? Everyone turns to rubber, you know. But maybe Nichols isn't susceptible to miracles, even in pairs. You may say for me that I had nothing to say, however."

Reporter's postscript:

Well, Mr. City Editor, here is that story you asked me for. When last seen I was just starting up the grade to Orange County park. Abbey was gaining, so don't expect me back tonight."

MRS. DORA HIGBIE, PIONEER, PASSES

Mrs. Dora C. Higbie, 87, resident of Santa Ana, died in her home, at 712 Bush street, yesterday, after an illness of long duration. She had been failing for the last several weeks.

Funeral services will be held in the Winbigler Mission funeral home at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, officiating. The service will be followed by the ritualistic service of the Torosa Rebekah lodge, of which Mrs. Higbie had been a member for many years.

Mrs. Higbie is survived by one son, True C. Higbie, of Los Vegas, N. M., who was at the bedside of his mother at the time of her death.

ANAHEIM TEAM TO ELKS CONVENTION

The ritualistic team of the Anaheim Elks lodge will represent the Mother Colony and Orange county at the state convention of the California Elks association tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, in San Francisco, according to E. R. Majors, secretary of the Santa Ana lodge.

Elaborate arrangements for entertaining 25,000 members of the lodge and their friends have been made by San Francisco lodge, No. 3, Majors said he had been informed.

San Francisco's new million dollar Elks' home has been designated as official headquarters during the convention.

The Anaheim team, Majors said, will compete with five other teams for the state drill team championship of the associations. Majors predicted that the Anaheim team would win and that a Southern California city would win the next state convention.

The dance is being given by the Fifty-Fifty club and has the sanction of the American Legion, although it is not one of the regular American Legion dances.

Dancing will begin promptly at 8:30 and will continue until midnight.

URGE CREATION OF NEW BRANCH TO STATE REAL ESTATE GROUP

Freeman H. Bloodgood, of Santa Ana, Tells Need
For Statistical Office

ANNUAL REPORT IS READ BY CHAIRMAN

Only Sources of Information Declared to Be
Chambers of Commerce

The creation of a research and statistical branch of the state real estate department is strongly urged in the report of the legislative committee of the California State Real Estate association. Freeman H. Bloodgood, Santa Ana, chairman, according to a copy of the committee's report, which Bloodgood released today in Fresno, where the "Escrow Indians" are holding their twenty-first annual pow-wow.

"At present, about the only source of information of real estate resources and conditions is from chambers of commerce and volunteer development companies, with now and then a county statistician collecting such information as they can afford, without the stamp of governmental authority or with much regard to detail or the state as a whole," Bloodgood wrote in the committee report.

Full Report Given.
The following is the report of the committee, in full:

"After due consideration, the committee centered efforts on two bills and two minor amendments."

"One amendment provided for the modification of the offense of engaging in the real estate business without a license so as to constitute a misdemeanor instead of a felony, hoping thus to secure more convictions."

"The other amendment provided for the extension of the definition of salesmen to include the acts of listing property, of soliciting for purchasers of property and for the selling or exchange of leases."

"Both of these amendments were passed and signed by the governor."

"One of the bills we sponsored provided for the division of commissions of salesmen by order of court. This bill passed both houses two years ago as well as this last year, but was vetoed by the governor both times."

"The chief interest of the committee was centered around a measure which originated with the Sacramento realty board, and which contained provisions for collecting information concerning the real estate resources of California, and for the printing and free distribution of the same to all real estate brokers and the public generally."

"This bill carried an appropriation of not to exceed $20,000 per annum from the surplus in the state treasury, collected as license fees, now amounting to nearly $500,000, paid in during the last six years by brokers and salesmen."

Great Need For Bill.
"It was felt by your committee that there was very great need for this information provided for in the bill, since practically all other available information bearing directly or indirectly on real estate resources had been cut off, such as the Agricultural Year Book, a veritable mint by way of report, covering as it did, a summary of every county in the state as to products, brokers and salesmen."

Stage and Screen

Gloria Swanson as she appears in a scene from "The Coast of Folly," picture showing at the West End theater.

YOST THEATER

Moving picture audiences are in for a treat of considerable magnitude! They have the opportunity of enjoying a "best seller" among books reproduced, to the last thrill and gasp of dramatic romance, on the screen at the Yost theater.

"Recompense" is the name of the picture that held the audience fascinated in their seats last night. The Warner "Classic of the Screen" was translated into pantomime from Robert Keable's sensational sequel to "Simon Called Peter" and tells the gripping truth of a tremendous love that held a man and woman fast.

Peter, the Army Chaplain—which role is played by Monte Blue—is torn between his sense of duty to God, his fellows and himself on one side, and the awful abyss of man-made love that beckoned him almost beyond resistance. Julie, on the other hand—and she is portrayed by none other than the piquant Marie Prevost—looked life in the face and waited, unafraid, for the joy, sorrow and glory that she believed was inevitable.

From the mad confusion of after-war, the hellish, primitive wilderness of South Africa and the mental morass of inward struggle, Peter and Julie emerge wide-eyed and open-handed, ready for the beauty they had won.

"Recompense" is a picture that motion picture audiences cannot afford to overlook. It is great—absorbing entertainment.

WEST COAST WALKER

The most pretentious cast of all those seen on local screens opens at the West Coast-Walker theater today in "The Reckless Sex," a comedy drama of life and love in Boston and on the Mexican border.

Heading the cast is Madge Bellamy, a living refutation of the old argument that beauty and brains don't mix. Miss Bellamy, the picture-wise lady in one of the greatest entertainments ever shown upon the vertical stage, the railroad epic called "The Iron Horse." The supporting cast includes William Collier Jr., Gladys Brockwell, Wyndham Standing, Johnnie Walker, and Gertrude Astor.

If you like comedy and melodrama (and who doesn't?) you'll find them ingeniously blended in "The Coast of Folly," which features a cast of 10 stars and many well-known supporting players.

Opening the vaudeville bill are Tobin and Vinton in "A Comedy Novelty Act." These two athletic entertainers in a novelty of their own, consisting of a remarkable array of original feats cleverly performed, who can be figured on to startle patrons notwithstanding the fact that they inject some extremely funny comedy bits in their offering.

Mr. Palmer, of Palmer and Huston, portrays a true-to-life character, full of bright remarks that appeal to all, young and old. Miss Huston does a remarkable straight. She has a pleasing personality and is a good foil for Palmer's character.

With plenty of comedy, witty sayings and bright repartee, they dance themselves into the good graces of an audience with wonderful steps and new movements.

Miss Grear of Kieth and Grear, "A Song Bird from Dixie," presents a selected program of classic and popular melodies which will prove a treat to all music lovers. There is beautiful scenery and effects that will remain in the memory of everyone who is fortunate enough to hear them.

La Fille, "The Serenading Violinist," has a repertoire of selections that are endless. Everything in the line of music is at the beck and call of this clever musician who will delight and entertain all who witness this cleverly arranged offering.

Closing this highly entertaining bill is Toots Randall and Co., in "Arizona Sports." With only a flashlight to illuminate the front sights of his rifle as he stands seventy-five feet from the stage in the center of the dark house, Randall smashes the cartridges from his sister's ears, as she nonchalantly faces against a bullet buffer on the stage. This feat is accomplished after Miss Randall has shot a tiny glass ball out from between her brother's fingers while standing in the same angle and both of these stunts are but incidental to the most wonderful shooting exhibition ever seen.

WEST END THEATER

What the great Bernhardt was to the stage, Gloria Swanson is to the screen.

Allan Dwan, famous producer-director, pays this tribute to Miss Swanson as the result of her superb artistry in "The Coast of Folly," her newest starring picture, now showing at the West End theater.

The director expressed it as follows: "Until now we have not had an actress on the screen who merited the title. The world has been waiting for the Bernhardt of the silent drama. Gloria Swanson is that person—an artist unsurpassed."

"I have heard people say that Miss Swanson has reached the pinnacle of her career, that she could go no higher. I know that she is only half way to the goal she will reach. She will amaze the world more and more by her growing prominence, her mastery of the art of acting."

"A new and wonderful Gloria came back to America... an actress with a full awakening to power and genius. Poise, depth, feeling, polish and conviction she has to a fuller degree than ever. Her characterizations in "The Coast of Folly" are the most difficult ever undertaken by a motion pic-

CHILD WELFARE WORK TO MARK P.-T. A. EFFORT

Child welfare and juvenile problems will receive more than ordinary attention this year from the membership at large of the Santa Ana city federation of the P.-T. A. It was announced today by Mrs. Fay R. Spangler, president of the organization.

Investigation made by committee workers reveals an imperative need for additional milk supply to relieve under nourishment among a large number of children. Mrs. Spangler brought to the attention of the federation is one of a little boy who has been forced to get up early in the morning to handle a paper route.

On arriving at school this particular boy, tired from work and lack of sleep, was unable to do his class room work, with the result that he was questioned by the teachers for his seeming lack of application. Further investigation brought out that economic necessity made it necessary for the boy to contribute to the support of the family.

Miss Swanson has three characterizations, each widely different, in her new starring picture. One is that of Joyce Gathway, a lovely, high-spirited young society girl. The second is Joyce's mother, Nadine Gathway, beautiful wife of a millionaire whom she deserts. The third calls for the most powerful portrayal of all, that of Countess de Tauro, who is Nadine twenty years later.

The Klondike Stampede!

Turn out! Turn out on the long trail—down the seething waters of Rink Rapids, turbulent, treacherous—on to Five Fingers, whose knuckled pinnacles reach up, clutching, like the stiff digits of a drowning man—up through the sifting snowflakes of Chilkoot Pass, cruel, forbidding, toying with men, stripping them of strength and manhood, wrecking their courage, breaking their hearts, sucking them in, swallowing them—all but the strong, who, toiling on, hungry frost bitten, answer the magic call—Gold!

Ask Dad— See If He Knows

Father and mother are always thinking of your welfare—there isn't a thing within reason they wouldn't do for you.

But they may unknowingly have been risking your life every day.

When you are at dinner tonight with dad, ask him this question:

"Dad, is our school firesafe?"

Perhaps he won't be able to answer—he may not know.

Ask dad if he knows that somewhere in the country a schoolhouse burns every day. Ask him if he knows that one-third of all the schoolhouses in the country are nothing better than firetraps—maybe your school is one of them.

Of course dad knows that buildings can be built that will not burn. They are being built everywhere, every day.

If your school is firesafe, you're lucky. If it isn't, ask dad what he is going to do about it. You have a right to know.

The highest type of firesafe construction is concrete. Our illustrated booklet "Concrete Schoolhouses" contains a wealth of information on firesafe construction with which every parent ought to be familiar. Write today for your free copy.

INSECT-FREE CORN SOUGHT IN SOUTH

CLEMSON COLLEGE, S. C., Oct. 7.—A hardy corn with long ears, that would be immune to attack by the weevil and the corn ear worm, or corn borer, is being sought for cultivation in the south.

Experiments undertaken by scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have disclosed the fact that weevils could not cut through corn husks, although they could eat the hardest rice popcorn with little difficulty. The problem was therefore to produce a husk-protected strain of corn that would also be productive and profitable.

Strains having desirable husk characteristics have been isolated and crosses between such strains have been found that were at least as productive as the parent variety. But it was discovered that the weevils could enter the corn by means of the holes bored by the corn borer or corn ear worm. The problem was then to get rid of this worm by armoring the ear against it.

The borer enters the tip of the husk and bores its way down through the ear and out. By developing corn with long husks it was found that the borer was fooled in its attempt to eat into the corn. It comes out before it ever reached the ear, and so doesn't do so much damage.

Development of long-husked corn, therefore, has tended to reduce damage by the corn borer and to keep the weevil almost entirely out of the cornfield.

KERNELS BY THE COLONEL

A fight is being staged in the Santa Ana courts to save a local lawyer 30 cents. A hard-boiled city government has demanded that he pay the 30 cents as a penalty for being tardy with his city license fee.

Rather than see such a calamity befall any man, lawyer or otherwise, the citizens of Santa Ana should come to the front, chip in, and help make up the fund.

Friends of the lawyer have been working quietly for the past several days. They have taken it up before the bar association, and the local association announced today that it had raised 11 cents of the fund.

The Democratic Central Committee held a session in a telephone booth at the Elk's club the other day and raised 3 cents, most of the money coming from Democrats living in Col. Finley's neighborhood.

Other donations also have been received and it is the purpose of this column to make every effort to raise the rest of the money needed before November 1. Patrons, do your duty! Step to the front and help this noble cause. Give till it hurts!!!

COUNTY AVOCADO GROWERS TO VISIT CARLSBAD ON SATURDAY

A number of Orange county avocado growers are planning to spend Saturday, October 10, at Carlsbad at the meeting of the California Avocado association. Opportunity will be given the visitors of the day to see the new development of the avocado industry in the Carlsbad district. Dr. Lovell, dietitian and writer for the Los Angeles Times, will tell about the avocado's place in diet. B. W. Geissinger of the California Fruit Exchange will discuss advertising in connection with the fruit industry.

C. V. Newman, manager of the San Joaquin Fruit company, Tustin, and practical grower in charge of the largest planting in California at the present time, will lead in the discussion of avocado problems presented during the afternoon program.

Farm advisor H. E. Wahlberg will represent the agricultural extension service for the county.

It is expected that several hundred growers from Southern California will be in attendance.

HUNT PROMOTER OF FIGHTS IN KILLING

KELSO, Wn., Oct. 7.—Authorities today were looking for John William Smith, 53, second-rate prize fight promoter, on the suspicion that it was he who killed Thomas Dorey, Kelso newspaper editor, June 19.

Smith and another man, whose identity has not been revealed, were named by Luke S. May, Seattle criminologist, as the slayers of Dorey.

Revenge because he prevented them from staging a prize fight in Kelso, and possibly robbery, were the motives of the crime, May believes.

Dorey, through his paper, the Cowlitz County News, made an active campaign against staging the fight and printed publicity against it which caused it to fall through.

GOVERNMENT URGES PLANTING BAMBOO

The United States department of agriculture is urging farm boys and girls to raise bamboos.

The department finds that bamboo and poultry make an ideal combination.

The southern part of the United States is well suited to the Oriental plant.

A grove not only furnishes excellent protection from hawks and other birds of prey but also provides shelter from the hot suns of summer time and the chilling winds of winter.

The surplus canes can be used for coops, roosting places and poultry houses.

The droppings furnish excellent fertilizer for the bamboo plants.

The giant timber bamboo and one or two of the smaller growing kinds, such as the stake bamboo, if properly handled, would in eight or ten years give good profits and provide conveniences for the farm and home such as light fences, trellises, bean poles and pea stakes for the garden, fish poles and fruit poles, hay-curing racks and water-carrying pipes.

Our Neighbors

LONG BEACH—Long Beach's paving program is at its peak, with nine miles of construction in progress at an aggregate cost of $800,000, while the city's grand total of pavement investments during the past four years of managerial government is $4,300,000. Long Beach has paved 39 miles of streets in the four-year period and constructed 90 miles of curbs and walks. The latter item is regarded as indicative of the remarkable activity in real estate subdividing in the Long Beach area.

ESCONDIDO—The new road from Escondido to Del Mar, via Lake Hodges and Rancho Santa Fe, is now open to the use of the public. This opening will be properly celebrated with a big, free, public barbecue Sunday, October 11. Directors of the Escondido Chamber of Commerce held a special session at Vale View Inn Monday and voted for the big celebration. Everybody is invited. At least a thousand people are expected. Plenty of food will be prepared and served free. The meal will be served from 1 until 2 o'clock.

SAN DIEGO—San Diego's new traffic ordinance was adopted by the council yesterday, and, if signed by the mayor, will take effect at the expiration of 31 days. The ordinance was adopted with but one change from the revised draft. That section giving pedestrians the right of way, provided they hold up their hands, was stricken out. The chief new feature in the ordinance is "boulevard stops" on most of the main arteries of the city. As soon as the ordinance goes into effect, it will be published by the clerk.

LOS ANGELES the Once Over

DEMAND FOR FUNDS FOR BUSINESS EXPANSION GIVEN AS REASON FOR BANK DEPOSITS SLUMP—Deposits of the 12 national banks of Los Angeles declined $15,429,745.92 since June 30, last, but were $4,096,646.37 greater than a year ago, according to a report issued by the national banks in response to the call of the Comptroller of Currency for the condition of banks as of September 28, last. Business expansion in Southern California with a heavy demand for funds, is deemed responsible for the reduction in deposits during the past three months. Another reason for the decline is the reduction of funds carried in the banks for tax purposes by the city and county.

RUMOR BREAK BETWEEN BISCAILLUZ AND TRAEGER IN POLITICAL RACE—Under Sheriff Biscailluz of Los Angeles county will be a candidate for the office will be the sheriff regardless of any other candidacy at the primary election next fall. This appeared to be the latest political development in the sheriffs race following the publication of reports that Sheriff Traeger has definitely abandoned plans to enter the primary as a candidate for governor and will seek re-election to his present office. The report caused a political sensation in the ranks of the many friends of Sheriff Traeger and Undersheriff Biscailluz, and led to the rumor that a break between the two officials was near.

FIVE ALLEGED BOOTLEGGING ESTABLISHMENTS RAIDED IN NEW BONE DRY CAMPAIGN—Federal prohibition agents yesterday dropped their first high-explosive shell into the camp of Los Angeles bootleggers under the new bone-dry program when they raided five alleged bootleg establishments, placed the owners in jail and seized liquor, automobiles and moon-shining apparatus valued at approximately $10,000.

Try the Pennant special family dinners. Individual service, 60c and 75c, served from 5 to 8 p. m.

both in the official paper and in pamphlet form.

SAN BERNARDINO—Contract for the construction of two 80-foot steel spans of the Santa Ana river bridge on Tippecanoe avenue was awarded the Virginia Bridge & Iron company yesterday by the board of supervisors. The Virginia company's bid of $5,735, was the lowest of a dozen submitted by bridge builders and structural steel companies. The construction of the bridge, which will replace two sections of the old structure, will be completed within approximately 90 days. The Tippecanoe avenue route between San Bernardino and Redlands is heavily traveled and the old bridge was feared of insufficient strength. The two spans to be replaced will be used in bridge repair work throughout the county.

SAN DIEGO—Judging from the amounts desired by municipal department heads for their 1926 operations, it will be necessary for the city council to do a lot of pruning to keep the tax rate down within reason. Estimates being prepared and filed with the city auditor show that most all departments want more money this coming year. However, the city, under the charter, must keep within the 90-cent limit on general expenditures, and a lot of the department heads are doomed to disappointment. The increased valuation, owing to many new improvements, however, should give the municipality more money to run on in 1926, without any increase in the rate.

The Bank Statement Shows a Cheering Financial Condition

The Loan Situation is the Best in Years. Reserve Thrice that Required

LOOK at your bank's financial statement to the Comptroller of the Currency if you want to find out how things are going in your community!

The statement of the First National Bank, just published, is a most pleasant and hopeful index of the state of Orange County.

Loans, for example—the trend of which reduces to cold facts the state of business. For the past three years the First National's loans have been mounting above $7,000,000, always on the increase as the bank's business increased. Last year they averaged $7,200,000 in round figures.

The bank statement of June 30, 1925, found loans reduced to $6,850,000. The present statement shows them at $6,644,000.

That means that business men, ranchers, individuals—all who borrow money to carry on business, to take advantage of opportunities, etc., ARE ABLE TO LIQUIDATE, to pay back their loans, hence must be operating on a very sound basis.

We also find our Bonds and Securities amounting to $1,429,300, guaranteeing all municipal and state depositors.

Our cash reserve is $1,520,784, nearly half a million greater than a year ago, and practically THREE TIMES GREATER than the amount we are required by law to carry to protect our depositors!

In plain language, it looks as though times are becoming easier, and that we have a more prosperous winter season to look forward to.

SCHOOL NEWS

Julia Lathrop

Domestic Science

Sewing classes at Julia Lathrop Junior high school are being conducted in a very interesting manner under the instruction of Miss Foster, sewing teacher. The advanced classes are learning to draft their own patterns. The newest classes are getting started very nicely and hope to be able to sew quite well before the term is over.

Canning has been introduced in advanced cooking classes. The students are very fortunate in having Miss Sinke for a teacher. The younger students are learning to prepare edibles for breakfast. A very desirable breakfast for mother is participated in the future.

Physical Education

Two sides, called the Green and the Gold, will be organized in the P. E. classes under the instruction of Miss Chalmers. Each class will have two captains, and two head captains will be selected. Good Citizenship badges will be given at the end of the term to those who have shown good sportsmanship and interest in the games throughout the term.

The girls have just started their basketball practice and hope to win many games during the season.

Art

Interesting studies of trees have been made in the art classes under the instruction of Miss Carothers. They are making studies of fruit, flowers, and leaves, in pencil, crayon, ink and water color. We are very sure that there are several talented members in the classes and hope to see an exhibit of their work sometime in the future.

General Science

Miss Brokaw's general science classes are interested in the study of carbon dioxide and its properties. One of their experiments has been to make and use a fire extinguisher.

Coach Bryan and his football team have started the season by winning the first two games. The game with Tustin high school at Tustin ended with a score of 6-0 in Lathrop's favor. The game with Orange played on Lathrop's field was Lathrop's at a large score of 27-0. The student body is very proud of Lathrop's team and is supporting the boys and Coach Bryan in every way possible.

P.-T. A.

The first meeting of the Julia C. Lathrop Parent-Teacher association was held in the art room Tuesday afternoon, September 23. The attendance was most pleasing to the new officers. Mrs. G. N. Greer, president, opened the meeting and briefly pledged her best efforts to the association and at the same time asked for the hearty co-operation of each and every member.

Miss Cornell presented the school orchestra in two numbers and Bernice Davis in a piano solo.

Mr. H. G. Nelson, principal of Julia C. Lathrop school, in his usual interesting way, discussed the subject of "Better Citizenship." This proved to be a challenge to parents. It is only through co-operation of home and school that better citizenship can be accomplished, he said.

Miss Van Scayce outlined briefly the plans in her health program for junior high schools and asked for a friendly attitude on the part of the parents in this matter.

Mrs. Earl Morris gave some interesting high lights on the Child Welfare book, "The Child—His Nature and His Needs." The next meeting will be in the form of a pot-luck supper on Friday evening, October 23. This is to be a get acquainted meeting so a special invitation is extended to new members.

Friday night there was a special meeting of the Lincoln P.-T. A. for the purpose of welcoming back the teachers of Lincoln school. A splendid program and dainty refreshments had been arranged by the members. The teachers were all present and were greeted by a large number of fathers and mothers of their pupils.

Those taking part in the program were Messrs. Cranston, Nuckols, and Warner; Mesdames Snow, Scales, Spangler, James, and Misses Phillips, Kahler and Paul. Much credit is due these men and women for their excellent entertainment.

Mrs. Snow addressed the P.-T. A. on its organization and development. Then explained the emblem of the association, "The Oak Tree," a tree of service. It is hoped that all parents will join and become active members and make the tiny branch which stands for Lincoln P.-T. A. a branch of service.

J. A. Cranston, city superintendent, said that he was one hundred per cent for P.-T. A. and knew Lincoln district was very far ahead in this work. He also asked the parents of the school to stand back of the city in its bond election for parks and playgrounds if it came up this year. He stated that Santa Ana is far ahead in many ways but is lacking in playgrounds and parks. "Why not put over this big project," he asked, "and place our city on an equal with other cities so our children will have the same opportunities for recreation as children in other communities?"

LAYING OF PAPER INCREASES YIELD

Laying paper over cultivated farm land is one of the most important discoveries ever made in agriculture, says a dispatch from Honolulu.

This process of yield increase has been developed in the Hawaiian Islands, Florida and California.

It is increasing the yield of the food crops to which it has been applied from the nominal amount of 25 per cent to the almost unbelievable gain of 168 per cent.

The crops grown by this process include sugar cane, tomatoes, cabbage, pineapples, tobacco, strawberries, all the bush berries and potatoes.

The increase is in size of the individual vegetables and fruits, in number of individuals, produced per plant, in plant growth, and in value of crop produced.

The principle back of the discovery is that a miniature hot house is erected by the paper around the base of each plant, and that the roots of the plant are placed virtually in a forcing bed.

The paper, which is continuous, prevents the growth of weeds, retains the heat and moisture in the earth, prevents hardening and baking of the soil, eliminates the necessity for cultivation and permits vegetables such as potatoes, turnips, carrots and the like to grow virtually at the surface of the ground, protected from the heat of the sun, or the cold of the wind or rain, by the paper.

The discovery has enabled pineapples, tomatoes, strawberries and other more or less delicate vegetables and fruits to attain perfect development and protection at higher altitudes and at lower temperatures than those in which their growth ever before has been commercially profitable.

It has opened thousands of acres of hill and mountain land in Hawaii to pineapple production and has even increased the area available for the growing of sugar cane there.

Protects Plants

The paper shield between the earth and sun, like the asbestos packing in a thermos bottle, acts as a protector against a too ardent sun as well as against too chilling winds and rains.

The paper used is one made by treating felt with asphalt, somewhat after the methods employed in making paper roofing, except that this paper is much thinner than roofing paper, though of as fine, or finer, texture so as to offer full protection from rain, dew and fogs.

One laying of the paper is sufficient for about five years in pineapple fields, slightly less in sugar cane fields, and some three years in tomato, cabbage and small crop fields, where the plants die at the end of each crop season.

NEW PEST HURTS ELM TREES, REPORT

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 7.—A new pest, known as the European elm scale, is being brought to the attention of Wisconsin residents, by the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture.

Elm scale, brought over on nursery stock from Europe, has attacked practically every kind of elm and has been spreading rapidly through the country.

It can be controlled, however, more easily than other diseases because the insects have only one generation a year.

Hen Population Beats Human Gain

The hen is the only farm animal whose numbers have increased faster than the population of the United States, reports Professor E. L. Dakan, head of the poultry department of Ohio State University.

In 1880 there were two hens to each person in the country. Now there are between three and four to each person, says Dakan.

Dakan's reason for this fast growth is that the hen is the most efficient of farm animals in producing food.

Why your modern bathroom needs the protection of a guarantee

...When "Saturday night" baths were taken in the kitchen, bathing wasn't so popular. Once a week was punishment enough.

...The first bathtub was a crude affair of soldered sheet metal—painted white—and boarded in. Hot water was heated in kettles and poured in. The tub drained right onto the ground. The bathroom knew no other sanitary conveniences.

... The first porcelain enameled bath was not particularly graceful—but it was sanitary. It made bathing popular.

... Compare it with the bathroom of today. The bath is a thing of beauty—the quiet toilet concealed—two lavatories enable two persons to use the bathroom at once.

... The quality of Washington Guaranteed Fixtures is attested by their use in thousands of modern homes and apartments. Many of the most important fixture installations on the Pacific Coast have Washington Guaranteed Fixtures—such as the Biltmore Hotel, New Rosslyn Annex, Clark and Beverly Hills Hotels—the Pacific Mutual and Pacific Finance Buildings, New Chamber of Commerce, Jonathan Club—and innumerable others.

... During the past twenty years only two lines of porcelain enameled plumbing fixtures have been consistently sold and serviced in Southern California. One of them is Washington. Be sure the fixtures you buy are backed by consistent and dependable service. The Washington Iron Works was established in Los Angeles in 1896.

IN no other line of development has there been greater progress than in the sanitary features of our homes. The demand for greater convenience and sanitation in the home has been answered by the development of porcelain enameled plumbing fixtures with their lasting sanitary surface.

... But because the porcelain of modern plumbing fixtures is applied by hand, under the terrific heat of 1750 degrees, the impossibility of producing an absolutely "perfect" fixture is recognized by these grading rules of the National Enameled Sanitary Ware Manufacturers Association:

... "Enameled sanitary ware is thoroughly coated with enamel of good color as evenly and as smoothly as the limitations of the art will permit. Careful inspection of each article is employed in the different processes of manufacture. Unimportant variations, which cannot be entirely prevented, are not valid causes for rejection or complaint, and no claims will be entertained for them. These variations include pin holes, minute scratches or lines, unevenness and small specks of foreign matter. Absolute perfection is not guaranteed or commercially possible."

... All fixtures on which the porcelain has been chipped or cracked—or on which the metal backing is liable to be exposed to water—are considered defective because such defects collect filth and germs, cause the fixture to discolor, and are a serious menace to health.

... An Inspection Bureau is maintained by the manufacturers, which is composed of competent, well-trained men who pass on all claims for defective fixtures. If the defect is real—and not a mere unevenness or unimportant variation—the fixture is condemned.

... These rejected fixtures are destroyed by most manufacturers—but some find their way on the market as "seconds" or "as is" fixtures. Because they are admittedly defective and are not guaranteed they are a very unsafe investment. A low price is usually a sign of a defective fixture.

... Your new bathroom—with its colorful, sanitary tile or composition floors and walls—its built-in porcelain soap and sponge holders—shower—concealed piping—and modern one-piece glistening white fixtures—will be the showroom of your home. Your fixtures are but a small part of your entire bathroom investment. Yet one defective fixture ruins the appearance of the entire bathroom and must be replaced—even if tiling and floors must be torn up.

... That's why your Plumbing Merchant will gladly furnish a written guarantee signed by himself and endorsed by the Washington Iron Works agreeing to replace free of charge any Washington fixture which develops any factory defect after installation.

... Your Plumbing Merchant cannot guarantee that the vast white surfaces of your plumbing fixtures will be absolutely free from unimportant variations, but he can guarantee that with proper care the sanitary surface of any Washington fixture will be maintained.

... It costs you no more to install Washington Guaranteed Plumbing Fixtures. The extra security of the signed guarantee is free. Insure your bathroom investment!

This Washington Guarantee and Label Protect You!

"We hereby guarantee to replace any Washington Guaranteed Fixture, that proves defective in material or workmanship, with one of like kind and size and also to make certain allowances for labor to the plumber so that any guaranteed fixture of our manufacture which proves defective in material or workmanship, after installation, will be replaced free of charge to the owner."

associations among the students in the various high schools of Southern California and the conducting of these conferences by certain of them in appropriate sections of this part of the state. The plan contemplates the attendance at these conferences delegations of young folks accompanied by a teacher or group of teachers, from the different high schools. The dominant motive in the plan is to get the young folks, themselves, who are to be benefited most by the conferences, actively engaged in carrying them out. The plan contemplates further the cooperation of various types of industries, the conducting of trips of observations through their plants and participation in the programs. In this way the students will see the actual tasks performed under the conditions under which the workers work and hear from representatives of the work-a-day world about the opportunities and requirements in their respective industries.

It will be seen immediately, Cranston added, that this will stimulate interest and study in this important field. It will spur the students on to investigating and studying occupations for themselves and thus enable them to lay a foundation for the intelligent selection of a life career. Such a process is in essence vocational guidance in its truest and best sense.

Naturally, the Vocational Guidance Association of Southern California is looking toward the adults for co-operation and support and will appreciate any suggestions they might make and their membership in the organization, the superintendent concluded.

URGENT CREATION NEW BRANCH OF REALTY GROUP

as well as comparison with other states, also imports, exports, tariffs, etc.

The horticultural department monthly publication had been, and still is, limited to two meager pamphlets annually, where formerly a strong monthly was issued.

"At present about the only source of information of real estate resources and conditions is from chambers of commerce and voluntary development companies, with now and then a county statistician collecting such information as they can afford, without the stamp of governmental authority nor with much regard to detail or the state as a whole.

"Someone has said that trying to run a business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You may know what you are doing but nobody else knows.

"Your committee feels that in view of the fact that the real estate license act exacts of brokers and salesmen that they make only true representations in making sales under penalty of having their licenses revoked for misrepresentations, makes it very imperative that brokers and salesmen have available information regarding the facts concerning real estate conditions. It would seem to be a fair proposition that the research and statistical branch of the state real estate department should be established, since the brokers and salesmen pay the bill out of their license fees, and furthermore would there be no additional protection to the public in two ways. First, the brokers would be better posted on the facts to be presented to buyers; and second, the buyers themselves would have access to the reports when printed and sent out as contemplated in the proposed measure.

"But then there are two views to take of the situation with respect to the whole matter. There is the pessimistic view and the optimistic view.

"We are going to take the optimistic view. It sounds better and looks better in print.

"I took 16 years to secure the passage of the real estate license act in California, the first one to be passed by any state in the union. So obvious was the need for such legislation, that some 18 or 20 states have now practically the same sort of law.

"It was quite necessary that the act be passed along, kept out of the courts as much as possible, and when in the courts, the first one to be passed by any state in the union. So obvious was the need for such legislation, that some 18 or 20 states have now practically the same sort of law.

"Not only for the good of California but for the good of all the sister states, it is necessary that our California act meet with success.

"We have every reason to believe that the newly appointed commissioner, Hon. J. R. Gabbert, will administer the act with devotion, caution, enthusiasm, fairness and efficiency, and we congratulate the people of California and the real estate fraternity on securing the services of a man so full of promise for success as head of the California State Real Estate department.

"Your committee inaugurated the plan of placing the work of looking after legislation in Sacramento in the hands of the secretary of the state association. Mr. Glenn D. Williamson did his work in a most efficient manner. All the measures which were sponsored passed both houses practically unanimously, and the legislative committee commends this plan for future legislation.

"Respectfully submitted,
"FREEMAN H. BLOODGOOD,
"Chairman."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

One of the most difficult duties a manager or a coach has is to keep his players from becoming the victims of over-confidence. Good teams have been defeated many times by inferior teams because the good teams knew they were good. The New York Yankees blew the American league pennant last season because the players thought they had a cinch and loafed during the first quarter of the race. The Washington Senators, of course, were a good ball club, but they wouldn't have won the championship if the Yankees had run out every hit, made an extra step for balls hit in their territory and had played for every game.

Jimmy Slatery, one of the most promising young fighters developed in years had his career ruined because he thought he was too good for Dave Shade, a welterweight, and trifled around until he found himself on the floor from a sock on the chin.

"Red" Grange Suffered

The Illinois football team, one of the best on the field in 1924, failed to win the Western Conference championship because they got the notion they couldn't lose.

"Red" Grange, star back of the Illinois team, discussing the danger of too much confidence in the "American Boy," writes:

"When we went into the Minnesota game we thought we were sure winners. We knew Minnesota would be tough, but we had been told by newspapers that we couldn't lose. So when, soon after the game opened, we made a touchdown, we simply relaxed and went to pieces. We lost 19 to 7."

Grange's reference to the newspapers explains why so many coaches forbid their players to read the papers during the season, and his general comment gives a good reason why some coaches like Gil Dobie assume a pessimistic attitude and tell their players that they'll be lucky if they win a game all season.

Coaches Face Problem

There is no accepted treatment for over-confidence, excepting a good beating on the field or a narrow escape from defeat. Football coaches have the biggest problem because they have to handle youngsters full of college pep and enthusiasm and they are more susceptible to flattery than older professionals.

John McGraw has been able to keep the Giants from becoming over-confident by putting the fear of his job in the individual players. McGraw has a way of letting it be known from "confidential sources" that certain players are about to be traded or sent to the minors and he keeps them on their toes all the time.

Babe Ruth's surplus confidence in himself cost him $5000 and plenty of humiliation when he attempted to place his own judgment and importance above the authority of his manager, Miller Huggins. It wasn't so much the fine he was assessed and the humiliation that he suffered that affected him, but the sudden realization that he couldn't get on with any other club if the Yankees wouldn't have him.

FINE BUSINESS TO-MORROW DAY AND NIGHT WORK

Trojans Hold Secret Drill For Stanford

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 7.—Behind the thick veil of secrecy that he has wrapped around himself and the Southern California football team, Coach Howard Jones is grimly confronting two knotty problems these days.

Jones has come to the conclusion that the Trojans of Los Angeles can defeat Stanford on October 17, provided:

First—That a defense is built up that can stop the Stanford backs; Second—That the Trojans do not grow over-confident before their struggle with the Cards.

To solve the first problem, Howard Jones has the Trojans working behind locked doors this week on purely defensive play. When the S. C. backs ran up 136 points in three games, they convinced their coach that they are mighty sound offensively. But Jones isn't so sure about the strength of the team when it has its back to the wall.

Utah is expected to provide Southern California with a tougher tussle than any team the Trojans have met this year, Saturday. Mike Armstrong, former assistant coach at Drake University, brings a big, tough, veteran team here this week that should give the locals plenty to think about. The game will not lack color. The Trojans and Mormons have met three times before, the Los Angeles boys winning twice. Utah is anxious to even the score, and Armstrong has a sneaking hunch that he will turn the trick Saturday.

But in the meantime, the Southern Californians are pointing past Utah to the Stanford game. The "outlaws" have soaked up the Pop Warner system and are doing their best to imitate the Stanford offense in practice scrimmages. Such men as Bill Cole, Fay Thomas, X. Jones and Max Thomas on the "outlaw" team make it a formidable eleven that is giving the Trojans more real defensive practice than any other club they have met this season.

Fine Weather Greets Teams As Series On

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
FORBES FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—Pittsburgh's great day, when the buccaners hoist the black flag and steer their fighting baseball craft into the battle waters of the city's first world's series since 1909, dawned fair and warmer.

One of those rare miracles of Pittsburgh weather, a cloudless blue canopy of sky stretched over Forbes field this morning as haggard faced fans at the bleacher gates stretched their cramped limbs, stamped their feet and blew on hands that were blue with the cold of the long night vigil.

The city was astir at daybreak, hundreds of feet of foot traffic in automobiles, hurrying to the lines that stretched away from the new pine barriers behind center field.

The Washington Senators, housed in the Morrow Field apartments out at Squirrel Hill, were urged by their youthful manager, "Bucky" Harris, to stay in bed as late as they could.

There was little of the sangfroid of champions displayed by the visiting team. They seemed more like a nervous bunch of boys going into their first big game.

For their part, the Pirates, one of the youngest teams that ever climbed the pinnacles of baseball fame, were displaying even greater nervousness around their headquarters.

Pirate Chiefs Confer.

Bill McKee, the Pittsburgh manager who has piloted his home team to its first National league triumph in 16 years, was early in consultation with the veteran Fred Clarke, who managed the Pirates when they last won a pennant and incidentally a world's championship.

At the two headquarters, at the Schenley Hotel, where scribes and celebrities from far and near gathered to chat before the game, in the activities of the dyed-in-the-wool fans outside the bleacher gates and in the bustle of employees putting the finishing touches to Forbes field, there was every evidence that this is to be a fighting series, probably one of the greatest on record.

A consensus taken by the United Press among fans, experts and players indicated a general belief that the two teams, Washington, with its gameness, Pittsburgh with its speed and punch, were practically evenly matched and that it would be the "breaks" which will decide the issue.

All the glamour and color customarily attendant upon this finale of the first baseball season, were in evidence today.

Landis on Deck.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, grim faced beneath his shock of white hair, paced swiftly through the lobby of the Hotel Schenley on his way to a conference with the genial Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league. Gov. Gifford Pinchot felt gingerly of the muscles of his right arm and took a few practice swings preparatory to throwing out the first ball.

Among those present, but not participating for the first time in five years, was Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants, and big, smiling Jim Tierney, secretary of the club.

In the lobby they bumped into Garry Herrmann, owner of the Cincinnati Reds, and Jack Hendricks, the latter's manager.

Shivering among the fans who had stood all night outside the bleachers, was a familiar figure—white haired Ralph P. Stillman, of Old Saybrook, Conn. Stillman is a sexagenarian who has seen every world series since 1903, always from the bleachers.

By the time the gates were thrown open there were enough fans in line to fill practically all the "rush" seats, with promise of an overflow that kept police busy around the park.

Want to Know Who'll Annex Series? They'll Tell You!

Want to know which team will win the world series? That's easy! Just ask Bill McKee, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bill will tell you right off the bat that the Pirates are a cinch and that the series won't go over five games. If you don't believe Bill go and ask Stanley ("Bucky") Harris, youthful pilot of the Washington Senators. Bucky won't hesitate. "Washington is a cinch," he'll say. "Pittsburgh won't win a game." So that's that.

to throwing out the first ball.

There are many women among the fans at the Schenley hotel, but only a handful braved the chill of early morning in the bleacher lines. There was not a ticket to be had by legitimate means, but speculators were active, their demands ranging as high as $50 for a ticket entitling the bearer to admission to the first two games and the sixth, should the series go more than five games.

Field Rrys Quickly.

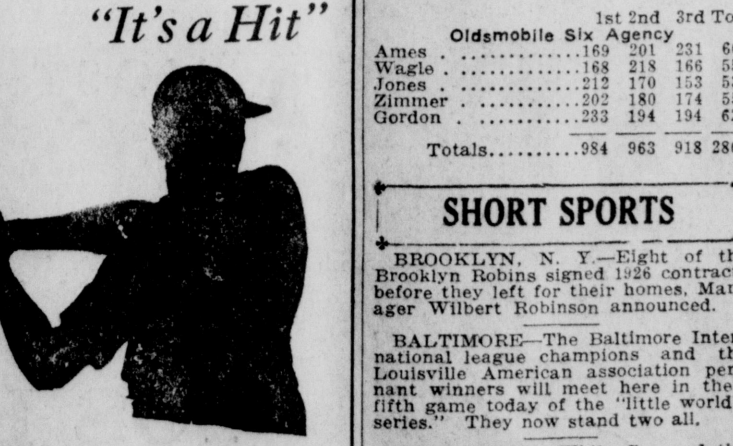

By 10 o'clock, when Judge Landis stroled out to look over the playing field, fleecy clouds had come up, but there was little reason to fear postponement.

The infield had been covered with tarpauline by Groundkeeper Jack Fogarty and his henchmen and the outfield was not too drenched for world's series ball.

Most of the morning the sun shone brightly, drying out the grass which had been soaked by yesterday's rain.

There was a possibility of showers later in the day but all hands, including the officials, agreed that the weather was far better than expected.

They're off! And if Pittsburgh can't beat 'em sincerely hope Washington wins. Tenny rate it's going to be Baseball with a Capital A. Seeing we can't be there, we'll gather round a score-board with a comfortable seat on the soft curbing and with a pocket full of COLONELS . . . la! la! Where is that old codger Gloom?

1500 Fans See Board Depict Series Opener

A Santa Ana baseball-mad throng, estimated at more than 1500 persons, today lived and breathed the first game of the world series between Washington and Pittsburgh while The Register's giant electric scoreboard faithfully reproduced each and every move in the battle for the supremacy of the diamond.

The crowd began gathering early in order to post itself at vantage points where it could best see the marvel board flash its colorful, play-by-play description of the opening contest.

Fifteen minutes before the game was called the gathering was estimated to consist of more than 800 fans. During the noon hour scores of business men and employees swelled the throng and the crowd virtually blocked all traffic on Sycamore and Third streets. The crowd extended past the post-office building and choked the Third street side of The Register building. Sentiment was about evenly divided. It was not the same sort of a crowd that last year yelled its delight every time a Washington player got on base. This year there were numerous Pirate adherents and they were not slow in giving vent to their feelings whenever things favored the Pirates.

The Register will give the same service throughout the series, each game beginning at 11 a. m. Santa Ana time. Parsons, telephoning this newspaper are requested to call over 29, 1650 or 1696.

A. L. Champions Autograph Ball For S. A. Banker

A regulation baseball, autographed by Walter Johnson, "Bucky" Harris, Stanley Coveleskie, "Goose" Goslin and all the other members of the famous world champion Washington Senators, was received here today by Alex Brownridge, cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank.

The ball was sent to Brownridge by Jimmy ("Pepper") Austin, veteran coach of the St. Louis Browns and a close friend of the Santa Ana banker. Austin had the Washington players autograph the ball the last time the Browns were in the capital.

The memento will be exhibited in the bank window.

"STEW" VAN HOOK

When big George Baker of Santa Ana completed his three-year term as center on the Stanford varsity, the Cardinals were confronted with a real task in filling his place on the line. "Stew" Van Hook has first call on the job now and probably will start there in the U. S. C. game October 17, McCreery, former Olympic club center, also is after the position.

Along the Sidelines

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Ben Butterworth, guard, will act as the Yale captain until after the Penn game, it is not the greater part of the season. Johnny Ross, elected captain, who is recovering from a recent operation, probably will not be able to play for another fortnight, physicians declared.

EVANSTON, Ill.—The disability hoodoo that has followed Northwestern, scored again. Tiny Lewis, full-back and one of the mainstays, is ill with a fever.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Suffering from a cold, "Red" Grange sat on the sidelines and saw Coach Zupke try to bolster the Illinois line. The varsity was sent against the forwards with disastrous results to the latter. Butler comes Saturday.

WORLD SERIES FIGHT BEGINS AT PITTSBURGH

Harris, Coveleskie, Peck All Ready to Take Place In Washington's Lineup

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 7.—All pepped up and primed to play for the honor—and gold—that goes to the winner, the champion Washington Senators and the Pittsburgh Pirates lined up today for the first game of the world's series.

Weather conditions were favorable and there were more spectators than there were tickets. Crowds swarmed around the streets early in the morning, looking for ticket speculators who wouldn't get out of bed even to handle the best business in 16 years.

Major league managers and players, minor leaguers of importance and fans of all degrees of the lodge, stood in the hotel lobbies, congregated around the street corners and gathered in any place where they could talk baseball.

There was plenty of conversation released but money was short and there was very little betting. The odds of 7 to 5 that the Pirates would win, which was established weeks ago in the New York financial district, still held good, but there was very little activity.

Sensors in Shape

Doubts about the physical condition of the Senators no doubt brought caution to those who liked the chances of the American League champions.

"Bucky" Harris, the young manager of the 1924 champions, insisted that he was ready to play, that Roger Peckinpaugh was in good shape and that Stanley Coveleskie had recovered from a kink in his back. But there were responsible stories to the contrary.

Harris said that Walter Johnson would pitch the first game today and there was no surprise in that. Bill McKee, manager of the Pirates, announced that Lee Meadows, the only pitcher in baseball who works behind spectacles, would be sent out after the first game for the National leaguers.

McKee also said that Vic Aldridge would pitch the second game and that Emil Yde, the south-paw sensation of 1924, would be sent in, in the third game. Ray Kremer and Johnny Morrison will be held in reserve.

Along the Sidelines

Although Coveleskie said that he would be ready to work by Thursday, it was understood from a responsible source that the veteran spitballer was not in good condition to start a game and that Harris would use in the second game Alex Ferguson, the New York-Boston castoff.

Ferguson, in the opinion of many smart baseball men, is destined to become the hero of the series. He is a great pitcher, with a lot of stuff and plenty of heart and he has never starred, because he was deprived of the chance.

Dutch Reuther, another member of the cast-off club, who was picked up last winter by the Senators, will pitch the third game, according to the plans of the Washington board of strategy.

Muddy Ruel, the best catcher in the American league, will work behind the bat for Washington today and "Oil" Smith, the New York-Boston castoff, will work with Meadows for the Pirates.

FARM NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

TRUCK CROPS TO BE STUDIED AT PARK MEETING

Seed Selection, Insect Control and Cultural Operations to Be Discussed

At a meeting of representatives of the truck crop department of the Los Angeles county farm bureau and of the extension service of Los Angeles and Orange counties, it was decided to hold a joint truck crop school at Buena Park, Orange county, November 14, 15 and 16. Other forms of extension schools have proven very popular in past years, consequently, although one in truck crops is a new venture, it was thought that growers should be interested in this one.

A number of different crops will be covered during the three days of the school, among the most important being tomatoes, sweet potatoes, peppers, lettuce, cabbage and cauliflower.

Not only will cultural operations be touched upon, but such other phases of seed selection, insect and disease control, standardization and marketing will be taken up.

Attempts are being made to secure the very best authorities in the state to handle these various subjects. Such well known authorities as Prof. H. A. Jones, division of truck crops, University of California; Dr. J. T. Rosa of the same institution, Stanley Rodgers, state department of agriculture, E. D. McSweeney, well known potato grower, and several others have already been secured. Each half day of the school will be given over to the discussion of one main crop, with other lesser ones sandwiched in as time will permit. The reason for giving all the subject matter on a certain crop at one time is so that growers who are only interested in certain crops will be able to get their information with a minimum loss of time from their farm work.

Federal Farm Facts

The department of agriculture has found a method of transplanting bamboo plants for growth in other districts than in the small groves of South Atlantic, Gulf Coast and Pacific Coast states where they have been found adaptable. A method of transplantation by means of underground root cuttings has been discovered, which is better than transporting the entire heavy plants.

Nearly 11,000,000 cattle were under supervision for the eradication of tuberculosis by the end of April, reports the bureau of Animal industry.

Afford shade for the hives and supers against the direct rays of the sun, and the bees will not swarm, advises the department of agriculture.

While Rumania's grain acreage is reported lower than that of last year's, the wheat and rye crop in Poland is estimated at a higher yield.

Certain fruits and vegetables from Porto Rico are barred from entry or put under restrictions, in the attempt of the United States to keep out injurious insects like the West Indian fruit fly and the bean pod borer.

Poor pastures in the north central states, according to the department of agriculture, may reduce production of milk, butter and cheese in that area. These states produce the bulk of creamery butter and cheese for the country.

Late frosts reduced prospects of good crops of apples, peaches and pears. Some of the central states, Virginia, Michigan and parts of New York, have been particularly hard hit.

The final estimate of the Canadian wheat crop is 262,000,000 bushels, or 212,000,000 bushels less than the final estimate for 1923. The result will be an export of wheat this year about one-half that of last.

September Report Of Cow Testing Shows High Scores

There were 611 cows tested in the association, producing an average of 32.4 pounds butterfat, which is 4 of a pound better average than that of a year ago.

P. J. Swayze of Garden Grove had the high herd under 25 cows, with an average of 38.4 pounds butterfat.

E. A. Wakeham, with a herd average of 37.5 pounds butterfat had high herd under 40 cows.

A. B. Kuffel, with a herd average of 38.4 pounds butterfat had the high average of herds of 40 cows or over.

E. G. Stinson was the owner of the highest producing cow for the month, with a total production of 1605 pounds milk and 75.4 pounds butterfat.

STATIONS SAVE PIONEERS FROM CROP FAILURES

Experiment stations set up over the "unreclaimed west" are converting the disappointments met by pioneer farmers from the east into profits and pleasure.

Eastern methods are being abandoned in favor of newer and more adaptable means of tillage for northwestern soils, thanks to the experimentation that has been going on at the government stations here and at other strategic places.

When the dry plains of western and southwestern states were pictured as lands of promise for anyone who would sign papers for a homestead, thousands of farmers and would-be farmers from the east and the middle west moved toward the Rockies.

Save in a few favored areas, it was the rule rather than the exception for the newcomer to struggle for weary years without any perceptible reward, but a title to land of doubtful value.

Crops did materialize, but not in a measure to yield any fraction of a fortune. Worse still, the situation did not improve with succeeding seasons.

Wrong Methods Used

Yet the proposition is simple. The New Englander tried to use New England methods in a new country. The Iowan sought to grow the same kind of crops that he had raised on fertile Iowa ground. The southerner, if he did seek success with grains instead of cotton, sought to do so with the successful middle western farmer.

The result was but natural.

Today Wyoming homesteaders and dry farmers and their neighbors of nearby states have come to a realization that their problem is one peculiar to their country. They have set themselves to solve it—and they are winning.

The government is doing its part through well-equipped experiment stations.

Stations Solve Problems

One of the twenty-four stations now existing in the United States is in Sheridan, Wyo. It was established in 1917. There is another in Montana and others scattered throughout the unclaimed west.

Each deals with the problems of its own region. Two prime problems have been largely solved.

The first was dispelling distrust toward any government agency and interesting farmers to renewed hope for their own futures. The second was instilling the knowledge that methods used in other sections of the country might be useless here.

Proper Crops Found

That much accomplished, those in charge of the experiment station started their real task. They found that grain sorgho dried out in Texas and Oklahoma and that Turkey Red wheat did not grow satisfactorily in Wyoming.

They found that Kharkof wheat solved the problem in Wyoming and they initiated new crops for the southwestern states. They experimented with seed peas and beans and found northern Wyoming soil yielded rich returns.

It was their task to determine which were spring crops and which needed the long winter "hibernation." They even had to determine which crops benefited from fertilizer on dry land and which did not.

SECRETARY OF FARM BUREAU BODY PASSES

J. W. Nelson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau federation, died, September 23 at his home in Berkeley.

This loss comes as a keen blow to organized agriculture of California, inasmuch as he was considered to be one of its ablest leaders.

Farm-raised, Nelson became interested in the scientific phase of agriculture and entered public service as a soil technologist. For many years he conducted soil survey work throughout the west and his works on California soils, published by the bureau of soils, are known to students throughout the west.

Through his connection with the University of California, he later became interested in agricultural extension work and was appointed assistant state leader of farm advisors, and in addition to his executive duties as such, conducted a large amount of field work in soils among California farmers.

He was later elected secretary of the California Farm Bureau federation, a field peculiarly adapted to his capabilities, and his untiring efforts in this line of duty are largely responsible for the fatal breakdown.

Orange county farmers became particularly acquainted with Nelson as a soil technologist and as an extension worker.

Real Farmers for Reel Pictures Is Department's Aim

Can any city-bred actor faithfully portray the American farmer?

Perhaps. But the motion-picture directors who make the educational movies of the U. S. department of agriculture say that, thus far, they have not seen city-bred talent that meets their requirements.

There seems to be something about the bearing and gesture of the real farmer which can not successfully be imitated. Portrayals of rural types that are acclaimed as authentic on Broadway are laughed to scorn in the grange hall.

The difficulty has been solved, in most instances, by selecting bona fide farm folk to play the roles in question.

DEHYDRATION TO BE STUDIED BY WALNUT MEN

Tour Scheduled in Midst Of Harvest to See Different Types in Operation

According to announcement from the farm advisor's office, walnut growers of Orange county will be afforded an opportunity to study various types of walnut dehydration on Friday, October 16.

During the past season several new plants have been installed in the Tustin-Santa Ana district. The tour has intentionally been scheduled in the midst of the walnut harvest for the purpose of seeing the different types in actual operation. This will be the second annual tour scheduled by the agricultural extension service for the study of this particular method of walnut curing.

Prof. A. W. Christie of the division of fruit products, University of California, who has spent considerable time in testing the various plants, will be the speaker of the day.

It is planned to start the field tour at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of October 16. The place of meeting will be announced in the press later. All walnut growers are invited to participate in this tour.

TUSTIN HIGH FACULTY BANS SACK CONTEST

TUSTIN, Oct. 7.—The annual sack rush at the Tustin union high school will not be held this year. Instead, a pushball contest will settle the question of supremacy between the incoming freshmen and the sophomore class.

The sack rush was deemed too rough by the school faculty. The pushball contest, it is declared, will eliminate roughness, prevent injuries, allow more team work, and prevent individuals from starting.

The affair is to be held at the high school athletic field Friday night. A pushball has been donated for the use of the school by the B. H. Dyer company, Los Angeles sporting goods dealer.

Smeltzer

SMELTZER, Oct. 7.—The rain which fell Sunday and Monday caused some damage to crops. Alfalfa was about the only crop which was benefited. Almost every rancher lost more or less as the result of dampness to the bean straw, the greater portion of which remains in the field.

Contracts for the straw made out by the buyers contained a clause in many instances making a deduction in the price if the straw was dampened, so the loss will be considerable among the ranchers as a result of the rainfall. Ten dollars is the general price for dampened straw, it is understood.

The rain also put a temporary stop to the sugar beet harvest, which would have closed this Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Berry drove to Los Angeles Sunday afternoon to visit a friend who is ill.

Mrs. J. A. Murdy, Arthur Murdy, Miss Ella Murdy and Miss Muriel Parr were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Charles Murdy, of Westminster.

George Applebury returned Friday from Idaho, where he was called by the death of a granddaughter. His daughter, Mrs. Chester Campbell, who accompanied him on the trip, is staying with her sister a few days longer.

The bean thresher, belonging to H. T. Dunning, finished local threshing at the Alford ranch Friday and Saturday was moved to Costa Mesa, where there is to be two weeks of threshing.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parr, in company with Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Baxter, of Westminster, attended a Santa Ana theater Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodington had their guest over Saturday night and Sunday. Mrs. Woodington's cousin, Miss Etta Hener, of Santa Ana, Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Woodington motored with their guest to Long Beach and upon their return, took her to her home.

The organization comprises executives of the Los Angeles police department and the sheriff's office, leading magistrates from superior and municipal courts criminologists, heads of state schools and presidents of Los Angeles universities. Its purpose is the discussion of methods of crime prevention, and exchange of ideas regarding law enforcement. Dr. Thomas J. Orison is president.

Kerr, librarian of the Pomona College library, will be the speaker, taking as his theme, "Adult Education of the Child." A round table discussion will follow his address. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock at the Mary Louise Tea room. It is expected that guests will include a number of visiting librarians from other parts of the state who have come south to attend the meeting of the executive board of the California Library association, which will be held at Long Beach that evening.

Pupils Empty Schools In Record Time

FULLERTON, Oct. 7.—A treat for Fullerton kiddies was the visit paid each grammar school yesterday morning by the fire truck, driven by Monte Jackson, in observance of Fire Prevention week. Fire alarms were sounded and the children filed from the buildings in orderly fashion, remaining in line until the teachers had checked the roll, and given them permission to disband. They then made a rush for the truck, asking innumerable questions.

Four school children established a record, emptying their building in just 35 seconds. The Chapman and Maple schools were vacated in 38 seconds, the Wilshire building in 41 seconds and the Harvard avenue building in 43 seconds.

HUNTER TELLS OF CONFERENCE AT STOCKHOLM

FULLERTON, Oct. 7.—"Stockholm and the Conference" was the topic of a splendid address delivered by Dr. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at yesterday's luncheon meeting of Kiwanis club. Principal features of the Stockholm International Conference on Life and Work, which he attended as delegate at large from the United States were related by the local man to his fellow Kiwanians.

Not only the religious, but the social side of the conference, were recalled by Dr. Hunter, who described the efforts of the American delegation to find suitable apparel for the formal reception given them by the king of Sweden. Humorous incidents which occurred, and peculiar customs of the Swedish people made his talk a most enjoyable one.

Visitors from the Whittier, Pomona and Bell Kiwanis clubs were present to hear Dr. Hunter.

ADD 2 COURSES AT TUSTIN HIGH

TUSTIN, Oct. 7.—Two new and interesting courses are being studied in the shop department of the Tustin high school. One of the courses is the construction of a steam engine. A model steam engine is being built by the class. The model, according to Charles Brisco, shop instructor, will weigh 4400 pounds when completed. It was designed by one of the high school boys in last year's mechanical drawing class.

In building the steam engine, the members of the class are given an intimate knowledge of the workings of the motor, Brisco points out. The other course, which is attracting a large number of mechanically inclined youths, is the forge and welding course, inaugurated this year. A complete course in welding is being given students and started late last year. Much more time will be devoted to the two courses this year, according to Brisco.

The street, according to Thomas Berry, who represented the school board, is for the accommodation of the school. It will bound the southern property line of the new, by purchased school site and will run alongside the new building. The city trustees declared that the city would not open the street unless a right-of-way was granted to connect Utica street with Wesley avenue.

The land for the school building was purchased recently by the school board from the Standard Oil company and the Huntington Beach company.

The city trustees declared that as the school board had the deeds to the street and wanted it for the accommodation of the school, then the school should establish additional complications arose when it was found that the deeds were made out to the city.

The eight hours for work and the eight hours for play, with the eight hours for sleep make a night and a day. You're wise as can be, so the doctors all say, if you use each eight hours in the 'spaced-to-be' way.

The man who sits tight, till his work hours are through, and does the best work that he knows how to do, need never have reason to worry and stew. When work is successful, your troubles are few.

The strain over labor that piles up each day, will ne'er reach the point where your system gives way, if you offset the work by the eight hours of play. That's how you can keep nervous breakdowns at bay.

Then, last, but not least, is the rest that you need. The full hours of sleep are just planting the seed that grows you the strength that will keep you well kept to meet with the toil of your work-a-day deed.

Too many folks feel that they're always too strong, to ever have health or ambition go wrong. You pay, in the end, when your living is rash, for a haphazard life rarely leads to a crash.

The Glaucons Gull

"High above the rock talus where the black and white doves chatter and swarm like bees, sits the hypocrite of Etah birdhood, the glaucous gull, whose superior air and haughty demeanor have won him the title of burgomaster," radios Maynard Owen Williams, staff correspondent of the National Geographic Society with the MacMillan Arctic expedition, from South Greenland via amateur radio station 1-MY, of Donald C. S. Comstock, Milford, Conn.

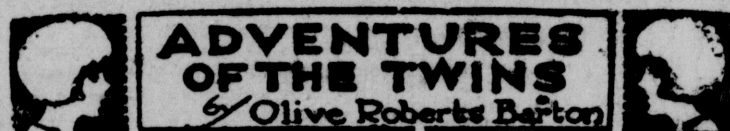

A unique feature of the message was that it was picked up by an amateur operator, Comstock, while on his vacation at the sea shore near Milford, Conn., ten miles from his regular station 1-MY, East Hartford, Conn., but this is believed to be the first that two-way connections have been established with the Arctic with a temporary field outfit.

"The glaucous gull's pure white vest and coat of lightest grey, his high flying manners and his comparative silence make him superior among the sociable, flighty and noisy little auks or doves," the dispatch continues. "Yet the glaucous gull is a voracious thief, who, like the Eskimo or the infrequent visitor, will without compunction, rob an elder duck of her young or her eggs. Trout and other Arctic fish, and, as with the little auk, shrimp, can easily be obtained in the water whenever he cares to supplement his bill of fare."

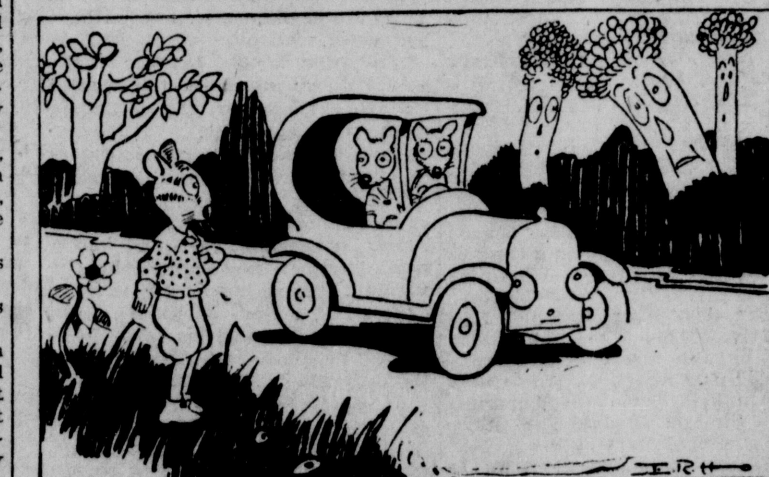

"As an enemy of the little auk, however, he seems to be best prepared. The glaucous gull arrives at Etah a week or so ahead of the little auk army and makes his home on some inaccessible point of rock high above the little auk niches nest. Although he hesitates to attack them when they are in numbers, he can catch an individual

NO. 15—CHIRK CHIPMUNK GETS A LIFT

"Where are you going, Daddy Cracknuts?" asked Chirk Chipmunk one day when the squirrel gentleman stopped at the "Twin Garage" to fill up his automobile tank with gasoline.

"Where are we going, Ma?" asked Daddy, who had gotten into the habit of asking his wife everything.

"We are going to get nuts," said Mrs. Cracknuts from the place she was sitting in the car. "You ought to know, Daddy. You told me you had all the best nut trees picked out, and we've been waiting for the first frost. The first frost came last night, so here we are, baskets and all."

"That's right, Chirkie," said Daddy Cracknuts kindly. "I'm getting a little absent-minded these days. Why are you asking?"

"I'd like to go to the buckwheat field," said Chirk. "It's all ripe and brown and I like it better than anything next to pop-corn. I'm going to the pop-corn patch, too. I like to eat pop-corn before its popped. It tastes like delicious nuts—only better."

"Wait!" asked Daddy. "What are you thinking mebbe you'd take me along," said Chirk. "It's a long way to the buckwheat field and I can't go so very fast."

"You shouldn't touch the buckwheat and pop-corn, Chirkie," said Daddy Cracknuts severely. "They belong to the farmer and he has a hard time raising them. With nuts it is different. They grow wild, and we—"

Nick and Nancy had been listening and now Nick broke in. "Listen here, Daddy," he said. "It's all right for Chirk to take a little bit of buckwheat and an ear of two of pop-corn. Money wouldn't do Chirk any good, and the farmer is glad to pay him for what he has done for him."

Enchantment of Grass

Lying in the sunshine among the buttercups and the dandelions of May, scarcely higher in intelligence than the minute tenants of that mimic wilderness, our earliest recollections are of grass; and when the fitful fever is ended and the foolish wrangle of the market and forum is closed, grass heals over the scar which our descent into the bosom of the earth has made, and the carpet of the infant becomes the blanket of the dead.

Grass is the forgiveness of Nature—her constant benediction. Fields trampled with battle, saturated with blood, torn with the ruts of cannon, grow green again with grass and carnage is forgotten. Streets abandoned by traffic become grass grown like rural lanes, and are obliterated.

Forests decay, harvests perish, flowers vanish, but grass is immortal. Beleguered by the sullen hosts of Winter, it withdraws into the impregnable fortress of its subterranean vitality and emerges upon the first solicitation of Spring.

Sown by the winds, by the wandering birds, propagated by the subtle agriculture of the elements which are its ministers and servants, it softens the rude outline of the world.

It bears no blazonry of bloom to charm the senses with fragrance or splendor, but its homely hue is more enchanting than the lily or the rose.

It yields no fruit in earth or air and yet should its harvest fail for a single year, famine would depopulate the world.

Domain where Nature's fairest face
Reflects the charm of morning's glance,
Its rivalry of strength and grace,
The mirrored soul of all romance.

Adventure's most alluring name,
The best beloved of fortune's quest,
A world frontier whose beacon flame
Lights all the highway of the West.

Its winnowed wealth, its treasure trove,
The ages' hoards, for him who dares;
The teeming fruits of field and grove
Awaiting him who plants and cares.

Where yesterday the herald bells
Awaked a distant, dreaming land,
Its commerce throbs and culture dwells,
Its orchards bloom and cities stand.

The State whose buoyant life looks on
To farther fields and ocean ways,
And sees beyond tomorrow's dawn
The shining sails of future days.

Time to Smile

STERLING AND TRIED

An ex-district attorney, at a dinner in New York, told a story about honesty. "There was a man," he said, "who applied for a position in a dry goods house. His appearance wasn't prepossessing, and references were demanded."

"After some hesitation, he gave the name of a driver in the firm's employ. This driver, he thought, would vouch for him. 'A clerk sought out the driver and asked him if the applicant was honest,' the driver said. 'Why, his honesty's been proved again and again. To my certain knowledge he's been arrested nine times for stealing and every time he was acquitted.'—Vancouver Province.

NOT MARITAL AFFECTION

An old couple came in from the country, with a big basket of lunch, to see the circus. The lunch was heavy. The old wife was carrying it. As they crossed a street, the husband held out his hand and said, "Gimme that basket, Hannah."

The poor old woman surrendered the basket with a grateful look.

"That's real kind o' ye, Joshua," she quavered.

"Kind!" grunted the old man. "I wuz afeared ye'd git lost."—Vancouver Province.

Parole Again Under Fire

San Bernardino Sun
Discouraging news comes to those who would turn back the crime wave. The board of prison directors of California is still releasing in record time men who figured in serious crimes.

Everett A. Hutchings ("Big Hutch"), notorious swindler and bunco artist, was convicted in 1921 of grand larceny for a swindle which netted him $51,000. The county of Los Angeles paid $40,000 to secure the conviction of the prisoner, who resorted to every device, legal and otherwise, to escape conviction. The crime was punishable by a term of from one to 10 years. The prison board fixed the term at seven years and six months, and it has been reduced to 40 months by good behavior, prison road camp work, and a year's parole.

A man who ruthlessly swindled his victims out of their life-earnings and reaped a harvest of great wealth has atoned for his sins with a mere term of a little more than three years. The Examiner puts the total result of his efforts in that city in the year 1920 at $385,000, and all the metropolitan newspapers have editorial hands up in horror at his release.

The prison likewise recently released a youth, son of a rich father, who while intoxicated killed two people with his automobile. He had served approximately a year in prison.

Certainly he didn't mean to kill the two people. Absolutely it was too bad that he drank and very probably he has learned his lesson and won't do it again.

Perhaps it is true that "Big Hutch" will never steal or rob or swindle again.

But what about the two people who lost their lives under the wheels of an automobile driven by a drunkard? Are they forgotten? What about the people whom Big Hutch swindled? Is it just too bad that they were such dumb-bells that they could be plucked by a clever crook?

And what is more important—what about the other crooks or potential crooks? What about the other automobile drivers who may be tempted to get drunk?

Why, it is simply this: I'll take a chance. I can steal $50,000 and if I do get caught, I'll be out in three or four years. And it will be this: Oh, take another drink, even if something does happen when you are driving home, they won't do much about it. And so it goes. A sad line says: Paroled Convict in Gun Battle Escapes. The country thought Blackie Ford, of the Wheatland hop riots, was lucky when he got life imprisonment instead of the gallows, and now he is out, after 13 years in prison. The son of the district attorney killed by Ford succeeded his father in office and he will attempt to keep Ford in prison by trying him for the murder of the second person killed in the riot.

The method of the state parole board is no new story in San Bernardino. We had our shock a year or more ago when we discovered that Alford, the former Ontario official sent to San Quentin for embezzlement of uncertain but very large sums from the city of Ontario, was breathing the air of freedom again, after serving a small part of the term for which he was sentenced. It was a seven-days wonder with us, as the Hutchings case perhaps will be in Los Angeles, and then in the rush and hurly-burly of the day, it will be forgotten, until some other parole stirs us momentarily.

The country is crying out for relief against crime. The first demand in California should be that the legislature make drastic amendments to the parole law, so that no individual, or set of individuals will have the unlimited power now claimed or possessed by the prison board.

Surgeon General, United States Health Service

CUMMING SAYS THIS FOOD SPOILS QUICKLY
Meat which you use on your table passes through three changes before it becomes unfit for use. Freshly killed meat is usually tender and digestible. Almost immediately, however, meat begins to change. It gradually toughens until it reaches a stage where it is too tough to chew. This is followed by another stage which is in reality the beginning of those changes which later we describe as putrefaction.

It would be better if we could always get our meat immediately after it is killed, but in the present stage of our development this is impossible. This forces us to resort to refrigeration and cold storage. The more carefully those processes are carried out, the safer our meats are for food.

Nor must we forget that the ultimate consumer should cook his meat as soon as possible after purchase. In hot weather, the ice box in the average home, while a most valuable and perhaps indispensable household article, is not kept cold enough to keep food, especially meats and fish, even when these are fresh, for but a very short time.

Fish spoils more rapidly than meat, particularly in warm weather. If fish is not properly kept, that is, kept very cold, not merely cold, it may become unfit for consumption within a few hours after it is killed.

Cooking, if done thoroughly, lessens the effects of the beginning putrefactive phase, but if fish is badly tainted or spoiled, neither cooking nor any other treatment will render it safe.

Do not buy fish whose eyes are cloudy and have lost their sheen. The eyes of fresh fish are bright and shining.

Do not buy fish whose skins are wrinkled.

Do not buy fish whose scales are dry or can be loosened easily with the fingers.

Do not buy fish when the blubber shows.

Do not buy fish whose gills are a pale red. Fresh fish have bright red gills.

Do not buy soft fish. If, after pressing a fish, the prints of your fingers remain, refuse absolutely to buy that fish.

GAIN IN POSTAL BUSINESS

An item of news that appeared in yesterday's Register calls for comment. It is an item that ought to be read by everybody who is inclined to think that Santa Ana has slipped back, as, we are informed, a number of other cities have done during the past year or two.

This item stated that the September business of the Santa Ana post office was ten per cent greater than the business of September, 1924, and September of last year showed a substantial gain over September, 1923.

Everywhere, postal business is looked upon as a reliable barometer of a city's growth and business. The post office does not advertise for business; it has no solicitors; it takes just what comes to it. Its business is a reflection of activity. This activity is not necessarily a truthful portrait of the activity of any individual business. The business that a store enjoyed a year ago may be divided now with a new competitor, or, possibly, a competitor who was asleep a year ago has waked up and is getting a larger share of the business in his line than came to him a year ago.

Traffic helps along evolution, suggests the San Francisco Chronicle, because eventually "only the quick thinkers survive." Still, the grasshopper never struck us as so specially bright.

CITIES THINNING OUT

Several of the largest cities in the United States have been worried by their school registration this fall. The gain in the number of school children is much less than usual. Some supposedly growing cities have hardly gained at all.

Such cities are naturally asking themselves whether their population growth is coming to a stop—whether it means for them stagnation and decay. A press report compiled without reference to school figures helps to clear up the mystery.

"Chicago and other large cities," it finds, "are being deserted by families with children," because "people with children want to get out into the open spaces. They are leaving the cities to persons who are satisfied with living in small apartments and single rooms."

In other words, the decentralization which thoughtful observers have been expecting for several years has now set in visibly. The movement outward starts naturally with families whose children the big city offers no proper environment.

This does not mean that the big cities are ending their growth. It means simply that population is ceasing to grow, as it has grown in the past, within their corporate limits. In nearly every case the "greater city" is gaining as healthily as usual. The growth is merely transferred from the central city, or metropolis, to its suburbs, and those suburbs are spreading farther and farther from the center, with the improvement of transportation.

This is a development wholesome in every respect. It implies no stoppage of business opportunity and educational and recreational facilities. Business and pleasure can proceed as usual, drawing their patronage from an ever-increasing population and area. City congestion is relieved. And a steadily increasing share of the people can have the benefit of life in smaller cities, towns and villages, and in the open country.

It is a happy compromise. City and country both win. Big town and little town are able to serve and prosper.

Col. Mitchell, in all probability, will find himself one of these days the head of a unified air service owned by some private airplane magnate.

THE HOARDERS OF AMERICA

A list of "hoarders" compiled by the Treasury Department is of curious interest, if nothing more.

The foreign population of this country is said to have $250,000,000 hidden away on cupboard shelves, in bureau drawers, in mattresses, under floors, buried in the earth and kept in such receptacles as sugar bowls, teapots and old socks. They hoard their savings more than any other class, because they are ignorant of banking methods or distrust banks.

Next come farmers, who often keep large sums with them for convenience because there are no banks near by. They hold $125,000,000 out of circulation.

There are probably 8,000 genuine misers, usually elderly persons, who have an average cache of $5,000.

Then there are half a million people who carry around with them, for possible emergencies, an average of $75 apiece.

The aggregate hoards are about $450,000,000. It is a good deal of money, but it need not cause anyone the distress with which it is viewed by some non-hoarders. It is less than one-tenth of the estimated cash in circulation in the United States. Ours is not a hoarding nation, compared with others. Nowhere in the world is such general and wise use made of banking facilities.

Yet to the extent of their unnecessary hoarding, those people are all doing themselves an injustice by losing the interest their money would bring, and the withholding of their cash from circulation slows down business and retards everybody's prosperity a little.

Living within your income is easier than living without it.

HUMAN NATURE SURVIVES

Dr. Hrdlicka, curator of the National Museum at Washington, who has been studying the vestiges of prehistoric man in South Africa, concludes:

"We have now enough evidence to form a pretty accurate estimate of the outlook of the primitive man, and that outlook was dominated by his ideas of war."

"There were many reasons why men should develop that trait. The first was preservation. Second was the fact that an insufficiency of common morality failed to teach one tribe where its hunting preserves ended and where its neighbor's began. Encroachment was constant, with resulting tribal wars."

"Then again there was the quality, still common to all humanity, of envy and emulation. One tribe
